bed broke and fell, severely cutting his right foot. He sprang from the bed and found that his escape was apparently cut off by flames. Foley picked up his wife, and tied a pillow case over her head and finally found his way to the street.

SA 1225 Jefferson street, W. L. Fritchell, the landlord, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Hight and their little daughter Lucille, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Nichols, were carried from the burning structure. Fritchell aided in all of these rescues.

The three buildings were enveloped in flames when the fire department arrived and it was feared that the entire block would go. A general alarm was turned in, bringing out every available piece of fire fighting apparatus in the city.

MANY LOST ALL PERSONAL BELONGINGS.

Fire Chief Sam Short directed the work, aided by his assistant, Chief W. E. McGraw, and Assistant Chief Martin Carroll and William Luckey. Persons who were injured in the fire follow:

Fireman Lester Becker of No. 1 track, cut from flying glass.

Fireman Glen Henry, 334 Fortieth street, badly cut about the hands and body from flying glass when he was carrying Mrs. Cutsinger and her baby to safety.

Hugh Foley, cut by glass from a falling skylight.

The roomers driven from 1221 by the flames went to the Cronin's apartments where they spent the remainder of the morning. Many had to borrow clothing because their entire personal belongings were destroyed by the fire.

More than 50 residents of the Jefferson Apartments, on the north corner of Twelfth and Jefferson streets, were driven into the streets in their night clothing by the fire. For a time it was believed that it would be impossible to save that structure. Many of the people carried what belongings they could move into the streets.

Had the wind shifted, or come from a different direction, Fire Chief Short said today, the entire block would have been saved. All of the burned buildings were wooden, as are most of the structures in the block.

The people who lived in 1225 and 1227 found shelter in a small room in 1227 Jefferson which had not been greatly damaged, and were grouped about an old stove until noon today.

WOMAN CONFESSES IN EMBEZZLEMENT THEFT FROM FIRM

It may have been because I loved good living. It certainly was not because I loved good clothes or hated work. I have done the work of two girls from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. every day for the past three years in the office, and for the past four months I have done all the work of my apartment at 436 Fortieth street.

Miss Newirth today gave the details of her embezzlement. She said she had been working for the past season as a well-dressed maid in a Jersey jacket and plain white lace front, a rough outline coat of dark material and a simple sports hat, none of which had been purchased beyond an average self-supporting woman's salary. Hazel eyes were dimmed in tears, but that was the only signal of trouble which was apparent in her dignified, accepting mien. A tragedy had occurred which must be borne—such was her whole attitude.

"WHAT WILL IT MATTER, BAIL OR NO BAIL?"

"I had friends before this happened. I do not know whether I have friends now or not. What will it matter whether bail is gotten for me or not?" she asked in surprise.

"Whatever happens, I shall always say that no girl ever worked for a fairer, better company than that for which I have been working," she commented. "Yesterday, with the officials, I went over the books and showed them everything. I still do not think that I could have taken as much as I am credited with."

What could I have done with it?" "Remember, I am not accusing anyone, but I would be glad for people to know that the cash drawer did not have a lock on it and that some ten persons had access to it. Salesmen sometimes brought me amounts of $1000 or $1500. I did not balance the accounts every day. FIRST MONEY TAKEN TO HELP HER BROTHER.

"An endeavor has been made to drag something else into this," the young woman says. "It is amusing, because it cannot be done. Two years ago my brother was out of work. The first time that I took money was to help him. He no longer figures in my story. I lived with him until last summer. For four months I have lived alone in Fortieth street. Miss Newirth received a monthly salary of approximately $130, according to the police report. $30 of which she paid for the rent of her apartments. A pride in her home was manifested in the purchase of various electrical conveniences. Several months ago she had been busy in accumulating a "hope chest," but the romance was broken. Recently, however, there have been rumors of a new courtship, although Miss Newirth does not confess to a betrothal.

A father residing in Berkeley, two brothers and a sister, make up the immediate family of the young woman who awaits the unraveling of fate in the city prison.

"Please leave them all out of this," she pleads. "They can't help it."

your courage and nerve to face the conditions of that terrible jungle.

SOUGHT SITE WHEN OFFER WAS MADE.

"Your plan was, at that time, to secure for Oakland a collection such as no other city in the United States could boast, but in that promise the citizens of Oakland were to furnish a modern fireproof structure and the taxidermist to group the specimens scientifically. I began at that time to select what I considered a most suitable location.

The Kendall property at Nineteenth and Alice streets seemed to me to be the best location. I interested the owners and endeavored to purchase the property, but the commission failed to view it in the same light as I did. I took the matter up with Commissioners Carter and Colburn and we secured an option. We stand ready to enter into negotiations with the owners to close the deal for a museum site."

"Mr. Snow has inspected the property and will express his opinion as to the location. I hope the Oakland public will not hesitate in construction of a modern building to house the magnificent gift of Mr. Snow."

"Mr. Snow and family, as Mayor of our city, I take great pleasure in presenting you to our citizens."

CIVIC CLUBS ACT AS HOSTS TO EXPLORER.

The luncheon was participated in by the Chamber of Commerce, the Y. M. C. A., the Progressive Business and other business clubs and civic organizations, which acted as hosts to the hunter and explorer. There were approximately 600 persons present. Two in a party, brought from Africa by Snow, were recognized as distinguished guests and occupied a cage not far from the speaker's table. They have been quarantined at Newark and were brought to the luncheon in a motor truck.

Snow was the principal speaker and told of his remarkable experiences in the jungles in quest of trophies for Oakland's museum. His narrative, at times, touched upon humorous episodes in his two-year jaunt. He said:

"The cubs will eat out of your hand. If you don't believe me, try it. They have eaten two chunks out of my hand."

"There is only one thing a rhinoceros is afraid of and that is a 'movie' camera. Once a rhino charged our party and nothing stopped him until he heard the camera clicking. Then he 'beat it' for the jungle."

HIS SMALL DAUGHTER BRAVEST OF PARTY.

"My little daughter, Norma, was the bravest one of the party. She thought the whole thing was a picnic. King Solomon had an eye for native beauty. Every time he saw a girl that took his fancy he married her. He was ninety years old when we left Africa, and had ninety wives."

"There's no speeding in Africa. Two miles a day was good time through the thorny country."

Snow told his audience that his wife was the first white woman and his daughter the first white girl to see him until he heard the camera clicking. Then he "beat it" for the jungle.

Snow announced that, since he had returned from his expedition with tons of specimens, he was going to devote his time to having the proper sort of a museum built in which to house them.

BROTHERHOOD OF ST. ANDREW GAINS TOLD BY VISITOR

Episcopal Church Needs 1500 Clergymen, Declares G. Frank Shelby.

The Episcopal church needs 1500 clergymen in addition to the present force. There are thousands of young men thinking of the ministry, but few willing to advise them and show them the way without persuasion.

This was the statement of G. Frank Shelby, general secretary of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew of the Episcopal church, at a meeting of the organization held in his honor in this city.

According to Shelby, the brotherhood has a larger honor roll now than at any other time in its history, despite the fact that "other church organizations have been slipping backward."

In spite of having to reduce the force and having difficulty in getting men for leadership, we have forged ahead," said Shelby. "This shows that the brotherhood has a great purpose to perform and has unparalleled opportunities. Had it given way to lowering the standard of the work in the matter of broadening its scope it could easily have increased its membership. It has a group of men ten thousand strong influencing others for good."

"Another important work being accomplished is the development of young men for the ministry. The clergy is in need of men and while many hear the call few accept it because they are not given good advice."

The launching of a plan for boy camps has also been achieved. There are four camps now in operation on two weeks' basis. The mornings are given over to religious instruction and the afternoon to recreation and play. There are twenty instructors and eighty boys in each camp.

The assembly was notified that Ned Shields, one of the secretaries, will come to the Pacific Coast in March to organize more chapters, and it is hoped by the members that a permanent secretary will be appointed for this district after the convention in Seattle. Fifty delegates from the bay district will attend this convention.

The Oakland TRIBUNE was formally thanked for its co-operation in the work of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew by the assembly through Shelby.

By ASSOCIATED PRESS LEADERS TO TRIAL.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—The American Tobacco Company, Lorillard and the Liggett & Myers Tobacco Company, were charged with engaging in conspiracies with numerous jobbers' association to keep up jobbers' prices, in a report transmitted today to the Senate by the Federal Trade Commission.

The three companies, the commission declared in giving the results of the investigation, were formerly parts of the "tobacco trust" dissolved by the Supreme court. The R. J. # IRELAND UNREST IS DECLARED DUE TO TREATY FOES Armed Raids in South Erin Feared As British Troops Are Withdrawn.

LONDON, Jan. 18.—(By the Associated Press.)—Unrest prevails in Southern Ireland, says the Dublin correspondent of the London Times, who intimates that followers of Eamon de Valera may be engaged in stimulating disturbances. "A spirit of extreme republicanism," the correspondent declares, "still flames in the south, where large bodies of armed men refuse to accept the treaty between Ireland and Great Britain. There has been an epidemic of robbery and other crimes of violence in Dublin and in rural districts which demands strong measures from the government. The whole country will heartily support the provisional Irish government in any measures taken to establish order, but the next few weeks, while English forces are being withdrawn, may be a difficult time in the island. The newspaper published in the interests of the followers of de Valera is said to have appealed for funds to organize popular opinion in favor of the republic."

By CHARLES M. McCANN, United Press Staff Correspondent.

DUBLIN, Jan. 18.—Armed raids in the south of Ireland were feared today to be the first signs of republican opposition to the Irish free state.

The police station at Charlestown, in County Mayo, was attacked by armed men, who seized quantities of arms and ammunition and kidnapped three policemen.

Two visitors to the Cork jail suddenly produced revolvers and forced the wardens to release a republican soldier under arrest for shooting a constable. The men escaped after effecting the rescue.

Coming on the eve of wholesale evaluation by British troops, these disturbances were causing grave concern in Ireland. It was feared an effort was on foot to embarrass the provisional government.

BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE. LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

LONDON, Jan. 18.—Because the experts cannot get the bill creating officially the Irish free state prepared in time, the reconvening of parliament was today postponed from January 21 to February 7. The framers of the bill have encountered many complexities in the various clauses, making the work very tedious.

DUBLIN, Ireland, Jan. 18 (By the Associated Press).—The appointment of Owen O'Duffy as chief of staff of the Irish Republican Army was announced today. He succeeds Richard Mulcahy, the present minister of defense. O'Duffy, who is 50 years old, has been liaison officer in north Ireland since the truce.

Mary Garden Can Sing---But Direct? Nay, Says Muratore

MARY GARDEN, who, according to Lucien Muratore, below, as an opera director, is a great singer.

Famed Tenor Refuses to Go Back to Place in Chicago Opera Company.
CHICAGO, Jan. 18.—Declaring a woman cannot properly conduct a grand opera because she is too changeable, Lucien Muratore, principal tenor of the Chicago Opera Association, announced today that it would be "impossible" for him to come back here next year under the management of Mary Garden.

"It is impossible to be a singer and a director at the same time," he asserted. "The French singer said, 'He asserted that he liked Mary Garden as an artist.' But when he talked of her as a director, he said, 'I am very sorry I cannot come back to Chicago next season. But I cannot sing under the management of Mary Garden.'"

Failure Unless U. S. Enters With a Heavy Hand, Says Soviet Leader.

MOSCOW, Jan. 18.—(By the Associated Press.)—The prediction was made by Leon Trotsky, Soviet minister of war, in an interview today, that the coming Genoa economic conference would be a failure unless the United States enters it with a heavy hand and makes possible the finding of the center of the world's political equilibrium.

America's attitude toward Soviet Russia is enigmatic, continued Trotsky. "She helps us more than any other nation in feeding the famine sufferers, but refuses to voice her political attitude."

RUSSIAN DELEGATION TO GENOA APPOINTED.
MOSCOW, Jan. 18.—(By the Associated Press.)—Either Premier Lenin or Foreign Minister Chicherin will lead the Russian delegation to the Genoa economic conference, it was officially announced today.

"Mary Garden changes her mind too often—but that, of course, is said to be a woman's right. I like Mary Garden as an artist—but I cannot work with a shrug—I cannot work under her direction. Moreover, I am not the only artist who is not satisfied."

Muratore opened the opera season in Chicago when he sang in "Emson and Delilah."

STEFANSSON HAD OPPOSITION FROM HIS SUBORDINATE

Meteorologist Says Southern Party Refused to Cooperate With Explorer.

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—Charges of Dr. R. M. Anderson of Ottawa and Professor J. J. O'Neill of McGill University that Vilhjalmur Stefansson had subordinated the interests of science to his own advantage in the official Canadian expedition to the Arctic in 1914-1918, were denied by Burt M. McConnell, meteorologist of the expedition.
"The charges," said McConnell, "lead the reader to believe that Stefansson was in charge of one expedition and Dr. Anderson was in charge of the other; that Stefansson virtually tried to hamper Dr. Anderson's operations. Stefansson, on the contrary, had been placed in complete charge of the entire expedition, southern and northern parties, by the Canadian government."
McConnell said that after Stefansson's ship, the Karluk, which was to have carried the northern party, was crushed in the ice, the southern party refused to cooperate with the explorer.

MERCHANTS GIVE PLEDGE TO BACK NAVAL BASE HERE

Exchange Adopts Resolution to Support Site Chosen At Alameda.

Pointing out the reasons why a main naval base must be established on the Pacific coast, and the reasons for its inevitable location at Alameda, chosen by the Joint Congressional Committee on Naval Affairs and also the Parks-McKean Board after a thorough inspection and comparison of all other possible locations, the Merchants' Exchange last night pledged its support to the movement for a naval base at Alameda. It was further pledged by the Oakland merchants as a body to work for the securing of early action on the base.
RESOLUTION ADOPTED.
The resolution adopted was as follows:
Whereas, The Merchants' Exchange of Oakland, California, representing the mercantile and commercial interests of the city of Oakland, believing that for the prosperity and welfare of the country, as well as for the protection to our commercial interests, feel that a Main Naval Base should be established on the Pacific Coast, and
Whereas, The proposed consolidation of the Atlantic and Pacific Fleets will bring to the Pacific Coast many additional vessels needing naval base facilities, and Whereas, A commission from Washington, D. C., under the chairmanship of Admiral Helm, a Joint Congressional Committee on Naval Affairs, together with the Parks-McKean Board, each, after a careful study and survey, recommended to the Senate and House of Representatives that Alameda, California, be the site of a Main Naval Base; therefore, be it Resolved, That the Merchants' Exchange of the City of Oakland pledge its support to the movement for a Naval Base at Alameda, California, and be it further Resolved, That copies of this resolution be forwarded to Senator Hiram Johnson, Senator Samuel Shortridge, Congressman Julius Kahn and Congressman John I. Nolan and to the public press.

THEFT OF YACHT LAID TO SUSPECT ARRESTED IN L. A.

S. F. Woman Brings Charges Against Man She Says Took Her Craft.

PASADENA, Jan. 18.—Colonel W. L. Stevenson, said to be connected with the secret service of the United States, was arrested here by police last night on a warrant charging grand larceny in San Francisco. Theft of $40,000 from a wealthy widow in San Francisco is alleged by the police. Stevenson was reported as wanted by the police of San Francisco and when found here was hiding in a broom closet of a fashionable residence in the San Rafael district.
It is said Stevenson, who has been living at the Maryland hotel, recently leased the San Rafael home for the season. Police state he took possession of the premises last Friday.
The complaining witness against Stevenson is Mrs. Emma Harper, widow and heiress at present in San Francisco. She charges that Stevenson obtained several thousands of dollars from her and her $40,000 steam yacht, On Time Again, by misrepresentation.
The alleged fraudulent possession of the money and yacht, she says, was in connection with a contemplated land deal. She charged that Stevenson borrowed the yacht to impress prospective customers, then mortgaged it and converted it into a fishing smack.

Present Fashion Means Scrawny Girls, M.D. Says

By CARL VICTOR LITTLE.
United Press Staff Correspondent.
CHICAGO, Jan. 18.—Blushy girls of girls spells peril to the race, Dr. P. Seippel, eminent women's specialist, said today. A frail, scrawny species is in process of evolution, the physician declared.
Rolled hose and short skirts are the present expressions of extreme dress which started some years ago and resulted in the immaturity of the sex of the present generation, Dr. Seippel said.
"Now we have the girl of straight lines, not the well proportioned girl of yesteryear. The girl of today, dressed in thin silk hose, short skirts and satin pumps, has no protection against the cold. She may as well wear nothing from the knee down."
"This causes the body to become frail, as the bodily heat, so necessary to proper development, is dissipated."

Red Hair Necessary For Leads in Play

BERKELEY, Jan. 18.—Red-headed students are being sought among the members of the Senior class at the University of California to take leading roles in the 1922 Senior Extravaganza.
One of the dramatic productions being prepared for presentation to the committee for final selection is being written by R. L. Ingram and H. H. Plummer, both auburn haired. Plummer is writing the songs and Ingram the lyrics. They declare that if their play is accepted all of the heads must be played by red-headed students.
Plummer has composed many of the popular songs of past college operas, and Ingram is editor of the Polican and author of the Junior farce presented by his class last year.

U. of C. Officials Probe Living Costs

BERKELEY, Jan. 18.—Living conditions at the University of California are being probed by the college authorities in an effort to decide the necessity of the immediate reduction of expenses. All students attending study lists today were required to answer a number of questions regarding their lodging and the cost of food.
Twelve thousand of the cards have been printed and it is expected to have a record of the living conditions of each student before the enrollment in classes is completed.
The questions ask the collegians if they are satisfied with their present quarters, and whether or not they would prefer to live in University dormitories. They are also asked whether or not they are wholly or partly self-supporting.

Autoists Rush Bridge, Tender Tells Police

ALAMEDA, Jan. 18.—C. A. Lewis, bridge tender of the Webster street bridge, has complained to the police that the automobile drivers of Oakland and Alameda are not cooperating in the operation of the bridge. He has asked that police be sent to regulate the rush of travel, especially during the rush hours.
According to Lewis, the drivers fail to heed the signals and attempt to rush the bridge when it comes to opening it to allow the passage of a steamer, and almost invariably he is unable to close the gates on one side or the other because the machine is jammed.
Chief William Wainwright has instructed Policeman Arthur Blunk to turn his attention to the situation.

CAMPS PLANNED FOR U. S., CANADA BOYS EACH YEAR

Ad Club Told of Scheme to Promote Unity of English Speaking Races.

"Britishers have too dashed much dignity."

"Some of them should be imported here and initiated into the mysteries of the luncheon club. Americans would be exercising a great civilizing influence on the world if they did this."

This was the pronouncement of Colonel Holman James, explorer, big game hunter, plainsman, student of the boy problem, and vaudeville actor, who provided the principal address at the meeting of the Oakland Advertising club yesterday at the Hotel Oakland.

Colonel James now is devoting his attention to an attempt to establish "unity of the Anglo-Saxon speaking races." With this in view he has already made plans for the establishment of a boys' camp in the Algonquin Park in Ontario, Canada, where English speaking boys will have an outing.

"I believe that this will accomplish more than anything else," said Colonel James. "I plan to have educators and instructors from England, America and Canada. It will broaden every boy's mind. It may be slow work, but I can get a couple of boys from every state and province I will soon have accomplished the desired end."

Two other addresses were delivered during the course of the meeting. Joseph J. Rushborough spoke on the Athens Athletic club plans, and after his speech a committee of advertising club members was named to assist him in collecting pledges for the athletic organization.

The committee consists of Charles Truman, Joseph Rushborough, Harry Schroeder and Joseph Rushborough. Dr. H. MacLafferty delivered an oration on Benjamin Franklin, whose birthday was celebrated yesterday, marking the inauguration of thirty weeks.

Husband Cut Off by Wife's Will, Sues

Totally ignored in the will of Mrs. Clara J. Carter, his wife, Walter J. Carter has brought suit before Superior Judge E. C. Robinson to have the will set aside. The estate amounts to about $30,000.

Mrs. Carter, also known as Clara J. Butler and Frederika Prainbrough, married Carter in San Francisco in March, 1917. Her will was written on March 5, 1921, while in the hospital. She died on March 28. Prior to her death Mrs. Carter wrongfully accused her husband, he alleged, of being intimate with other women and with administering slow poison to her in an effort to get her money. This, Carter declares, is an evidence of the unreasonableness of her mind at the time she made a will leaving her property to her sister, Mrs. Maria Sorgatz, of Concordia, Kan.

Housewarming Given in Form Of Luncheon

By EDNA B. KINARD.

What mission the castaways, the white elephants—the things that nobody seemingly wants—may fulfill has been demonstrated by the Mobilized Women of Berkeley, under the leadership of Mrs. Lewis A. Hicks. Bags, bottles and sacks have literally been the basis of their important work, although wearable garments, furniture, bric-a-brac, millinery, books, pictures, etc., that their owners no longer wanted but that somebody else coveted have kept the treasury rolling. Paper drives conducted on broad and wholesale lines netted good dollars. So has the beautiful work of contributing good American citizens to the great commonwealth been put across since the days when war ended and the experiment of patriotic relief carried over into the days of peace.

The American House has been erected at University avenue and Ninth street, a monument to the ingenuity of the Mobilized Women and their devotion to patriotic ideals. Not alone have they proved themselves worthy citizens, but they have written a new chapter in the history of the world. The attractive structure which will house their labors has been planned by no less an architect than Bernard Maybeck.

Today the local directors, who have striven to attain a lofty dream, met together at the first luncheon in the American House. The function was by way of a housewarming of their new home, and business meeting in the present, of toasts, addresses and songs. Although the directors have set aside the third Wednesday of each month to the business of the organization, today's conference, which marked the first in the new building, will remain a historical date in the annals of the organization, whose purpose is to become a reality community center where the highest type of American life is reflected.

The prominent women who are directing the project and who were hidden to the housewarming today are: Mrs. Lewis A. Hicks, president; Mrs. Louis Bartlett, Mrs. S. B. Hayward, Mrs. William Hopf, Mrs. Samuel Hughes, Mrs. J. H. Hunt, Mrs. Andrew H. Irving, Mrs. Joseph Irwin, Mrs. J. Kline, Mrs. W. H. Marston, Mrs. D. J. Formerly she was a candidate for the United States Senate from Nevada. She represented her state at the 1918 conference of the Republican national committee. When, a few seasons ago, Miss Martin was a guest in this city, she was entertained at a large tea at Hotel Oakland, sponsored by the state branch of the Woman's party, Mrs. Eleanor Carlsie presiding. ## STEER WILD ON 5TH AVE.; ROPED FROM TAXICAB

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—A hornless steer gave crowds in the shopping district a new thrill yesterday when he escaped from a taxicab almost to the East river, crossing Broadway and Fifth avenue before being lassoed.

The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals provided an ambulance to take the big fellow back to the slaughter house and preferred charges of cruelty against Rudolph Miller, who chased the runaway in a taxi and lassoed him. Magistrate McQuade released Miller, saying he had showed commendable resourcefulness and had protected the public.

Meet in the Fruitvale avenue studio of Mrs. Jump. The speakers will be: W. S. Goodrich, director of the municipal work; Jay B. Nash, director of recreation, and Marston Campbell.

Presentation of "Liliom" (Frank Moynier) by the Channing Readers, following the January luncheon of the Home Club tomorrow, is claiming wide interest among those who give attention to the modern European drama. Mrs. Edwin W. Sedgwick will direct the production. A group of songs will be rendered by Mrs. Elma Clark, Mrs. Robert C. Hoedel will be hostess.

Modern door fees will be translated into equipment for the new departments.

A Crime against an Ancient Art

The West can teach the East many things—but not how to make rugs. In 1610 the first Turkey carpet looms were brought from the Orient—since then the Occident has striven to master the secret of Oriental rug weaving—in vain.

And now the West is invading the East and is seeking to commercialize rug weaving there—also in vain.

Only patience, inherited skill, the old dyes and time can make a true and worthy Oriental rug.

"Commercial" Oriental rugs are not true and worthy works of art, and only find acceptance by the credulous, who are lured to buy them through "sales" and "bargain prices."

Najarian holds no sales, but his values in true Oriental rugs are not equaled in the West.

Let Najarian send an Oriental rug to your home on approval. There make a side-by-side test with a "sale" rug. And note, yourself, the difference.

HAYS 'PURCHASED' BY BLOCK CENSORS, SAYS DR. CRAFTS

Screen Magnates See New Era Dawn With the Acceptance of Hays.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—The movie trust has purchased Will H. Hays to lead the screen in a drive to eliminate the politics of the United States and much anti-movie legislation, Dr. Wilbur F. Crafts, reformer, charged here today.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 18.—The advent of Will H. Hays into the motion picture industry at this time is a practical step in an economic reconstruction now necessitated in the picture business.

Mr. Hays, formerly king, thus joined the general attitude of the local motion picture center today on the announcement that the postmaster-general of the United States had accepted a $150,000 a year job to "put the picture game back on two feet."

A blow at unreasonable strict censorship was seen in the industry's acquisition of Hays by Albert Shubert, who, scenario writer, speaking for the Screen Writers' Guild, said: "The youth of the motion picture industry has given birth to considerable intercaste jealousy and strife which has made the selection of a leader from within the ranks of the industry utterly impossible," said Shubert.

"A leader has been found in Mr. Hays, to the everlasting benefit of the industry, artistically and commercially, and to the equal advantage of the American people."

Jesse L. Lasky, executive of the famous Players-Lasky corporation, the largest film organization in the world, unqualifiedly branded the movement which seated Hays in the White House as the biggest forward step for the industry that could be effected.

Disputed Pearls Have History of Romance, Revolt

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—A strange tale of romance, plotting, assassinations and revolutions lies behind the litigation over a string of pearls worth $1,000,000, in the New York courts today.

Mrs. Horace E. Dodge, widow of the wealthy Detroit automobile manufacturer, is said to be present owner of the pearls, which were originally in possession of Empress Catherine II of Russia.

The pearls have a bloody history. Their royal owners were involved in intrigue and tragedy from generation to generation. Finally came the revolution, the massacre of the czar's family, and the pearls were then put on the market.

Tests for Outside Teachers Increased

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 18.—Because of the influx of teachers into California from other states, the State Board of Education has decided to "tighten up" its regulations with regard to qualification requirements in the certification of teachers for the elementary grades. It was announced here today by Will C. Wood, State Superintendent of Instruction. Wood stated that in the future it will be the policy of the Board of Education to deny certification to elementary teachers who cannot show the completion of six units of work in the universities of the state, including a course in the California school system and school law.

He was first found by the crew of the Overton's motor launch, which was cruising off Matamoros, on the Black Sea, who picked him up off the beach and, after feeding him, returned to their ship with their mascot. He spoke Russian, Greek, Armenian, Turkish and French, but no English, but soon learned enough English to tell his story. Following the death of his parents, he had come to the beach and had existed more than a year under the boat, feeding himself with scraps washed ashore from passing vessels. He had to be turned over to another ship when the Overton was ordered to Constantinople, but when the Overton got there the first boat returning from shore brought young Harry, who had traveled his old friends across the Black Sea and was waiting there for them.

What will eventually be done with him is uncertain, as there are no provisions for bringing him to this country.

QUEBEC WILL PAY DEBT WITH BOOZE IN TWENTY YEARS

$4,000,000 a Year Profit For Government in Monopoly, Premier Reports.

QUEBEC, Jan. 18 (By the Associated Press).—Profits from liquor sales in the Province of Quebec will pay off the public debt in 20 years, maintain roads and provide funds for education, according to a report prepared by Premier Taschereau for submission to the legislature in its present session. Basing his findings on the business done since May, 1921, when the liquor trade became a government monopoly, the premier estimated that the yearly profit would be $4,000,000. Revenues $28,000,000, 100 loaned municipalities for road building and provided for by sinking fund, Quebec's debt is $23,000,000.

The government sold $9,326,727 worth of liquor from May 1 to December 31, 1921.

"Much of the liquor," he explained, "was sold to outsiders, hundreds of thousands of visitors coming into the province to enjoy a little liberty."

From the moral, as well as financial standpoint, Quebec liquor laws have proved successful Taschereau claims.

"No doubt," he admits, "some drunken men are to be found. They will always be found and there are more of them in prohibition communities—New York for example."

The premier announced the government planned to encourage the consumption of wine rather than spirits. To that end a purchasing office will be established in Paris, to buy wines direct from the producers in France, Italy, Spain and Portugal.

You are entitled to the benefit of the doubt

Why not take advantage of it?

The law is very careful in protecting the rights of a prisoner charged with a crime.

How about the Law of Common Sense and the man who has committed an error only? Isn't this a good place to use the benefit of the doubt, too?

Take your own case: If you don't know for sure whether tea or coffee is harming you, you do know that many are harmed by the drug element in tea and coffee, and that headaches, nervousness, or high blood pressure are symptoms which often tell that the drug, caffeine, is giving the nervous system too much jolt.

Probably you know, too, that some people can't drink a cup of tea or coffee at bed-time, and sleep well that night.

Where many have been harmed by tea and coffee, and you may be harmed, isn't it well to put the benefit of the doubt on your side before doubt becomes an unpleasant certainty?

There's harm without harm in Postum—a pure cereal beverage, rich in flavor, fully satisfying; the favorite table drink of thousands.

Suppose you try giving yourself this benefit today, and keep up the test for ten days; then judge the results. See if you don't feel better and work better. You can get Postum wherever good food and drink are sold or served.

Postum comes in two forms: Instant Postum (in tins) made instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water, Postum Cereal (in packages of larger bulk, for those who prefer to make the drink while the meal is being prepared) made by boiling for 20 minutes.

Crime, Insanity Are Blamed On Teeth

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Jan. 18.—"Bad teeth produce insanity," declared Dr. Otto U. King, Chicago, general secretary of the National Dental Association, during an address here.

"Bad teeth are a contributing cause to hundreds of cases of youthful incurability, failure to keep up school work and, frequently, crime."

"Heart disease is largely traceable to mouth infection. Chronic bad condition of the teeth invite cancer."

"Crime is a mental disease, due to physical defects, and one of the most frequent defects is bad teeth, or insanitary oral conditions. The earning capacity of a man is in direct relation to the condition of his mouth."

CIVIL SERVICE EMPLOYEES FIGHT CHARTER SCHEME

Speaker at Meeting Saturday Night to Tell County Division Danger.

The Citizens' Advisory Committee for the Protection of Civil Service has issued a call to all city employees to attend a meeting at Chabot hall Saturday night to hear from informed speakers and to vote on the proposed charter which will kill the civil service law.

Chairman Spiro of the committee appointed a committee of attorneys to prepare a statement of the reasons for the proposed charter which is being circulated in each of the precincts of the city.

"The report simply astounds me," said Spiro this morning. "It reveals the most glaring attempt to bring back the old spoils system and to rob every civil service employee of all they may have earned by years of faithful service to the city. The charter provides for the ideal 'boss' system, but in a more drastic way than any of the bosses who operated before civil service times ever dreamed of."

HUGE SCALE SET UP BY S. P. IN OAKLAND SHOPS

The largest master weighing scale west of Chicago has just been installed and tested in the Southern Pacific railroad's yards and shops in West Oakland. It is announced at the company's head offices in San Francisco.

Parts of the scale were manufactured in the Southern Pacific Company's workshops in Oakland. The scale was installed under supervision of G. A. Easton, master scale inspector of the company in Oakland.

Editorial in Livermore Paper Scores Division

Sentiment in the Livermore Valley is so strong against county division that there is little that may be done there in the campaign except to bring out the maximum vote, according to the Livermore Herald in its leading editorial this week.

The Herald calls attention to the fact that the alternative proposition on the ballot in the first election brought about just what had been predicted by the opponents of county division.

County division, it holds, would be to the disadvantage of Oakland and Livermore. The editorial follows: "The time is now near at hand when the people of Alameda county will vote to decide whether or not the county is to continue to exist in its present form or be broken up into two or more parts. The sentiment of the county was shown to be against the scheme at the last election, but unfortunately the remainder of the board of freeholders did not have the wisdom and foresight of J. G. McKown of this place and of every other city and town within its boundaries. February 1 is election day, and we see that your neighbors vote."

"All banks in Germany which make agreements with Russia have received permission from the German state bank to discount Russian drafts," Mr. Lezhava said. "The whole Germany shows great interest in developing commerce with Soviet Russia."

Firemen's Hall to Be Scene of Rally of Opponents of Division Scheme.

Representatives from all of the communities in the county and from the unincorporated territory will meet tonight at Firemen's Hall in Hayward, where a campaign rally in the interests of preserving the unity of Alameda county will be held.

The division of Alameda county would be to the "disadvantage" of Oakland and of Livermore, and of every other city and town within its boundaries. February 1 is election day, and we see that your neighbors vote."

Have been delivered are urged to be present.

Representatives have come from San Leandro, Alameda, Niles, Irvington, Pleasanton, Alhambra, Livermore, Oakland, and a number of other places, some of the communities planning to send representatives from a number of their clubs and organizations.

A. W. Beam, a member of the Board of Freeholders, who is opposed to county division, will preside and E. E. Linicum will be secretary.

A meeting to be held in the interests of "anti-division" has been called for this evening at the home of Mrs. J. H. Platts, 3447 Park Boulevard, Oakland. White is to be the speaker and a short musical program will be given with Miss Anna Randolph, soloist, and Miss Marie Lant, accompanist.

Boy, 3, and His Sister Die From Ant Poison Dose

Three-year-old Billy Hughes and his sister, Ann, aged 2 years, children of W. J. Hughes, local police officer, are dead today as the result of eating ant poison. The children found the mixture on a lower pantry shelf in the Hughes home, 327 Twenty-third street, yesterday.

The paste had a sweet, syrupy like taste and both children ate a considerable quantity of it after climbing up on a chair to reach the shelf. When the mother discovered that the children had eaten the poison she summoned her husband, who bundled the babies into an ambulance and took them to the Emergency hospital for first aid treatment. They were removed to their home later, where Ann died yesterday afternoon. Her brother passed away last night.

OAKLAND AUTOMOBILE SHOW CONTINUES TO DRAW BIG CROWDS

CROWDS COME TO AUTO SHOW IN GREAT NUMBERS

Out-of-Town Dealers Flock to See Beautiful Motor Car Display.

By JIM HOULIHAN.

With a crowd on the second evening rivaling in size that of the opening night, the Automobile Show continues to be the leading attraction during the present week in Northern California.

It's difficult to pick out any particular exhibit and credit it with being a main attraction, for all of the displays, regardless of the price of the automobile, each car has its favorites, and any time you want to start an argument in the Auditorium all you have to do is say that some one make is getting all the time-light.

Competing with the beauty of the cars for the praise which is being meted out in large gobs is the richness of the decorations, the scheme of which is a harmonious one, and in the mass transforms the bare-looking civic building into a structure entirely different from its every-day appearance.

Out-of-town dealers are beginning to put in an appearance. Yesterday some checked in from Los Angeles, San Diego, Bakersfield, Fresno, Sacramento and Stockton. San Francisco distributors came over in big numbers last night and they are united in giving high praise to Manager Martland and the dealers' show committee, for the skill they have exhibited in putting over the show.

There was an even greater evidence of buying yesterday afternoon and last night than there was on the first day, and the manner in which orders continue to be closed gives one reason to believe that the present show will surpass all previous ones in point of business.

Just about every dealer has received a deposit on some car since Monday afternoon. Some, particularly the popular priced makes, have two or more on the books, while several say that they have already disposed of three or more.

STUDEBAKER MODELS FEATURE

Three new Studebaker models were featured in the show space of the Webster-Wells Company at the Oakland Auto Show last night and all of them won the applause of the Studebaker fans.

Officials of the local concern were talking enthusiastically about another "Studebaker Year" and pointing to their various new model offerings and their points of excellence as reasons for their belief in Studebaker's leadership in 1922.

The local Studebaker firm has two separate show spaces, one at the left of the entrance in the corridor and the other on the stage in the main auditorium.

The new models seemed to find much favor and the recently announced price reductions on these cars was said to be another factor in the year ahead prosperity outlook for the local concern.

The afternoons and evenings of the week ahead are expected to develop a great deal of business. Real Studebaker boosting spirit and a lot of genuine enthusiasm over the show radiated from the Studebaker exhibit last night.

THIS BROUGHAM HAS NEW LINES

The Jordan Silhouette brougham occupied a large share of the time and light last night in the exhibit of the P. K. Webster Motor company.

This handsome brougham is a distinctive Jordan creation and is a type which its manufacturer introduced five years ago. The lines of the brougham are distinctive and aristocratic, representing a high degree of craftsmanship peculiar to all Jordan creations.

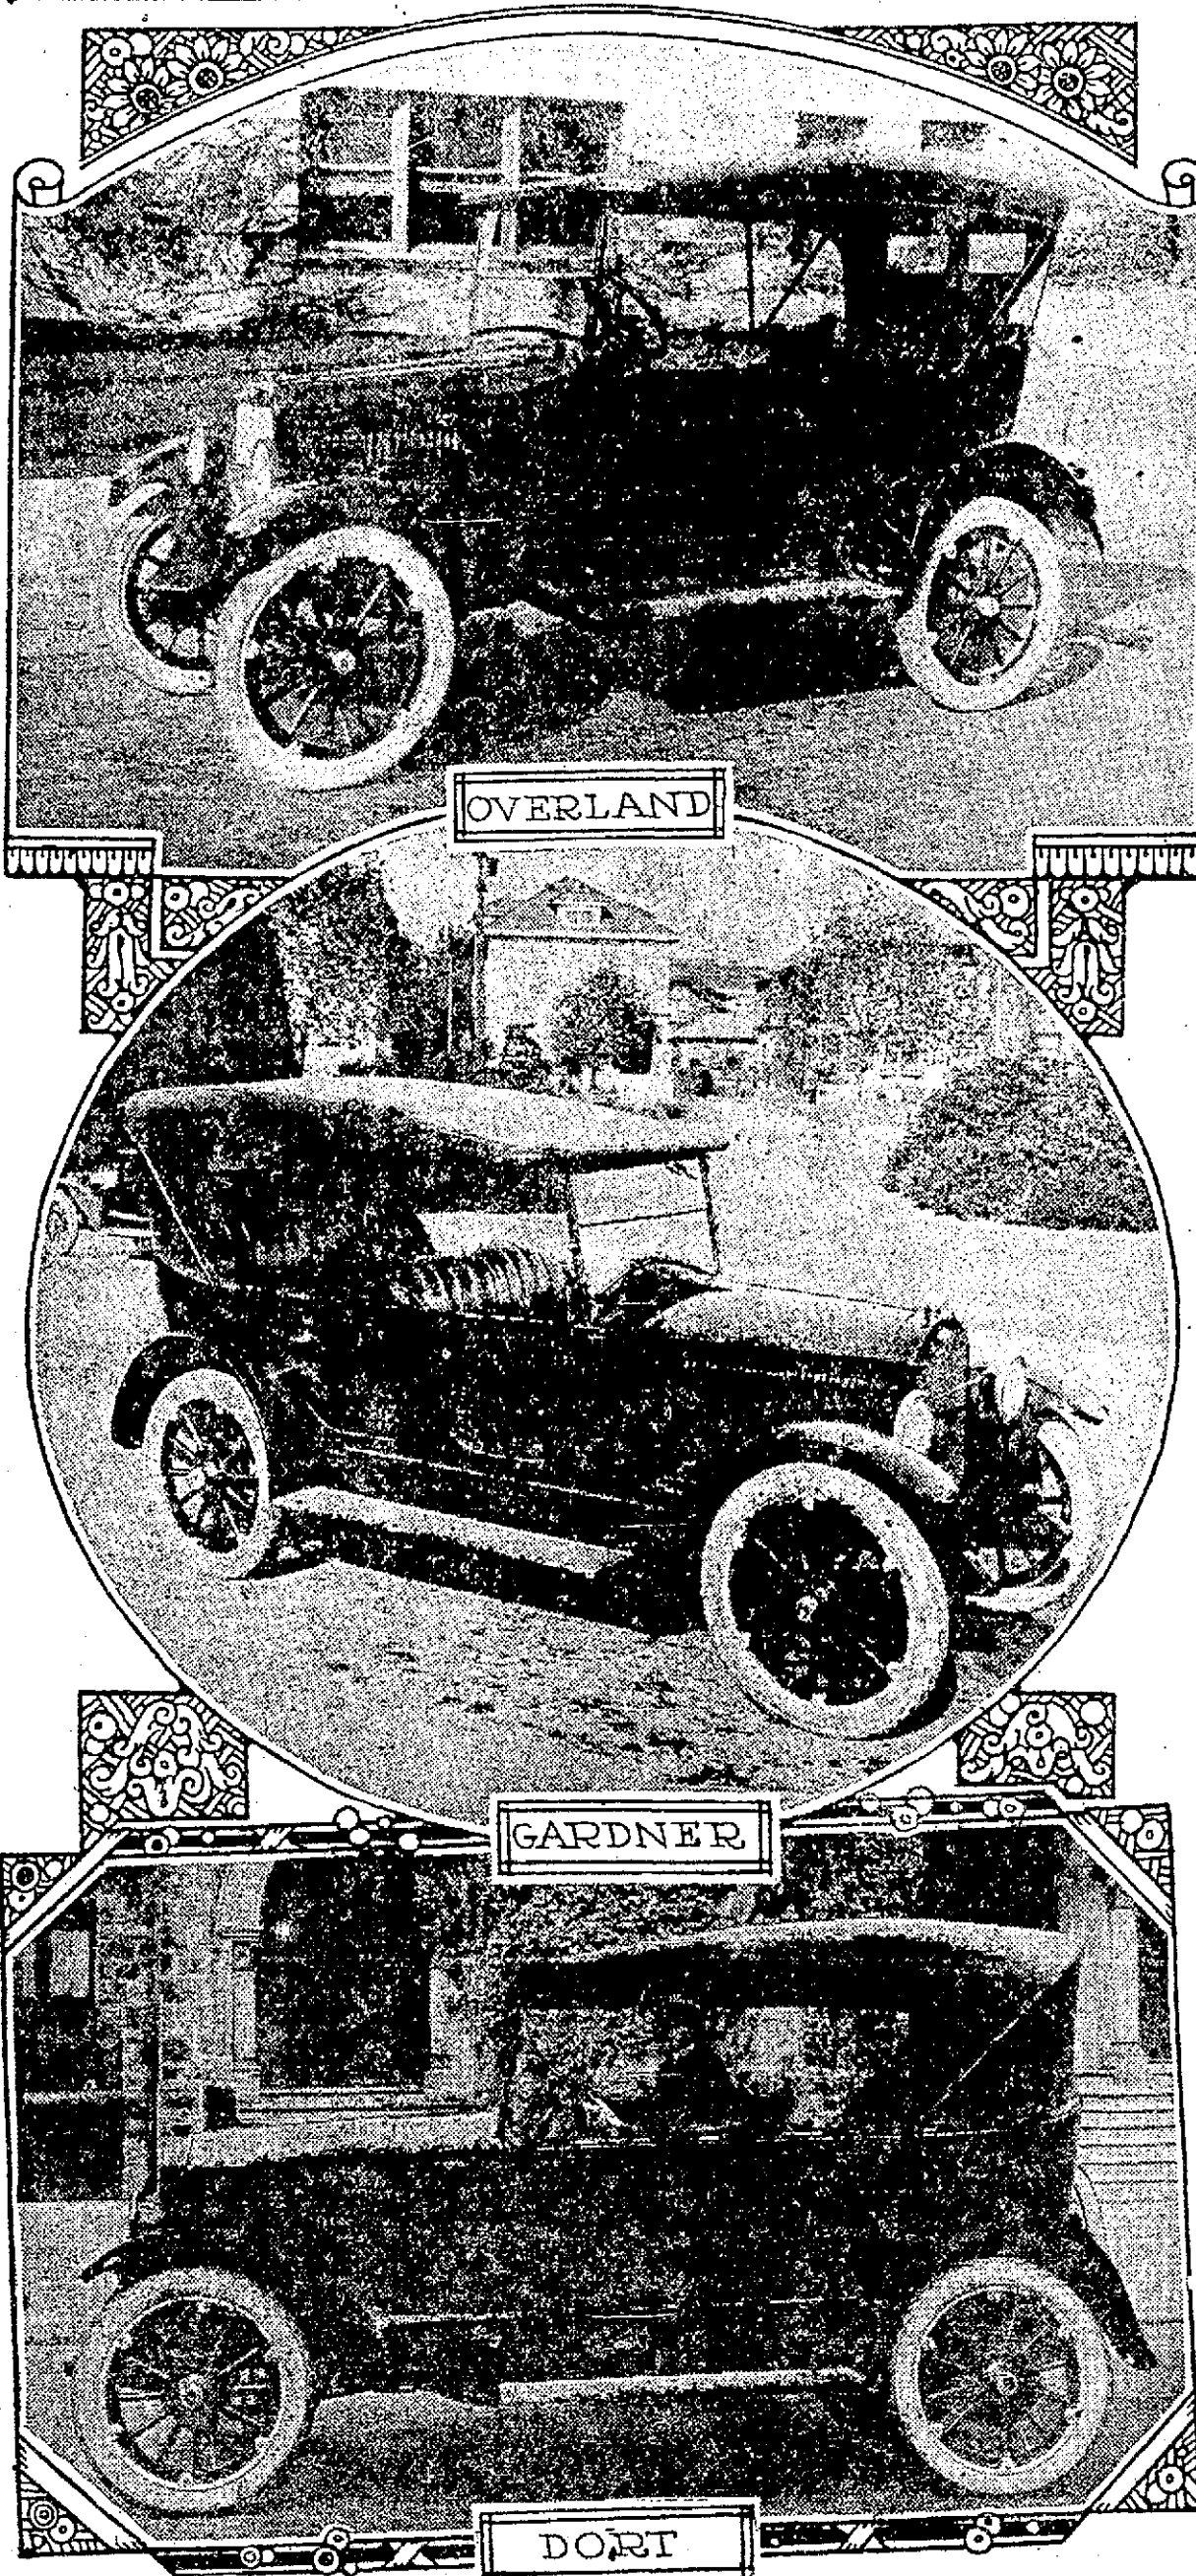

According to Mrs. Webster, visitors at the Jordan exhibit have been deeply impressed with the qualities which have been built into the new cars. She is delighted with the comments of those who have inspected the display.

Japanese Silk Men To Meet Americans

TOKYO, Jan. 18.—A conference of the Japanese and American silk manufacturers will be held in Tokyo next April in connection with a peace exhibition which was proposed by leading members of the Japan Sericultural Association and the Central Silk Men's Association if present plans materialize. The project has been approved by the above named organizations. The object will be to establish a close understanding between silk producers of Japan and silk consumers in foreign countries, thereby contributing to improvement of the sericultural industry in this country.

CROWDS AT SHOW HELD A SIGN OF 1922 PROSPERITY

Auto Lovers Swarm Through Exhibit to Scan Beauty of New Models.

F. A. Hamlin, veteran of many coast shows and one of the best-known men in California motor circles, presided over the Hudson and Essex display at the show last night and entertained scores of people who thronged around the special show cars in the display space.

Hamlin was enthusiastic over the size of last night's crowd and prophesied that the record show attendance was evidence of the prosperity ahead for the motor industry in this section of the country during the coming months of 1922.

Never have any exhibits by the Hudson or Essex factories been more representative of the fine manufacturing art of this great manufacturing company than those shown in the display of the Hamlin & Wichman Company, distributors for the cars, at the local show.

The feature car of the exhibit, however, and one that held more than passing attention from the throng of visitors, was the Essex coach, a new enclosed model just announced by the Essex factory and shown for the first time at the New York show. One car was rushed west by express and this model last night was the center of the admiring attention of the thousands who crowded into the Auditorium.

It is a five-passenger enclosed car and one that merits well the praise given it by the show crowds. Both Hudson open and enclosed cars were on display.

CROWDS PLEASED, DEALER REPORTS

"There has been no let-up in the interest which was manifested on opening night in our exhibit," stated Herbert Bell, of Bell & Boyd, Willys-Knight and Overland dealers, at the conclusion of the second evening of the auto show. "and it looks to me as if we are going to set some real history here, the affair is over."

"Willys-Knight and Overland models were the center of considerable attention yesterday evening, as was the case on opening night, and, if anything, the spectators were more enthusiastic over our display."

Bell & Boyd report the sale of a handsome custom-built Willys-Knight job for the first evening of the show. This handsome car going to William P. Jarvis.

MANY PROSPECTS AMONG AUTO SHOW THROG

Frank Sanford, manager of the Oakland branch of the Howard Automobile Co., is enthusiastic regarding the attendance at the show. He states that there have been many live prospects secured by his salesmen on the auditorium floor, and that all of the Buick dealers who have come in from the territory are unanimous regarding the outlook for spring business being excellent. These dealers say that the heavy rains combined with the substantial reduction in the price of Buick cars make things look rosy in the country.

A 60-ampere-hour battery, when fully charged, will be completely discharged in twenty minutes if the starter be used continually for this time.

NEW MOTOR AND CHASSIS SHOWN TO VAST THROG

Details of Equipment Are Explained by Motor Experts

The Liberty Six now distributed by Lloyd Bros., owners of the Oakland Garage, continues to be one of the popular drawing cards at the show.

The chassis which is on display shows the operation of the new Liberty motor. It is a very interesting sight and very educational to those who are not familiar with the workings of the motor and the gears. The Lloyd brothers very carefully explain the many details to the enthusiastic spectators.

The Liberty motor is playing a big favorite with the Liberty prospects. The beauty of design and the snap of color seems to draw the crowds like candy draws flies. They like the richness of the job and the mechanical make-up, points out Tom Lloyd.

J. P. Scarce, factory branch manager, has been on the job redacting what assistance he could to the Lloyd brothers.

"We are glad to give the line to such reliable boys as the Lloyds," said Scarce, "they have established themselves in this territory with the motoring public and have always given everyone a square deal."

Auto Show Notes

Here's a little side light on one of the prominent and popular Oakland dealers who accidentally came to the notice of THE TRIBUNE editor of the automobile department.

For a few brief minutes Frank Sanford was in the millionaire class. It happened thusly:

An elderly lady approached the Buick salesman at the Automobile Show and asked if there was a Mr. Stanford connected with the Howard Automobile Co.

Thinking that the woman had said "Stanford," the dispenser of valve-in-head motor cars called Frank Sanford over to discuss shop with her.

"I knew your uncle very well, and I'm glad to hear that you are doing so well and have become the largest distributor of automobiles in the world. I always said you would do well, as you were such a nice boy," said the lady.

Sanford began to squirm, thinking that a nut had broken loose from one of the state institutions for the insane. He coughed and sputtered for a few seconds in an effort to collect his thoughts, but before he could muster up courage to tell the woman who had bumped into the wrong pew, she started to rattle off a few yards more of ancient history.

"Thus Buick car is a world beater and our way they do say that it climbs hills better and faster than any other car. I told my neighbors that young Stanford would never sell anything that wasn't good, because he always was such a good lad and that being the relative of a multi-millionaire never had spoiled him, and I was glad to hear that you had turned your talents and money to something elevating like investing in a big automobile agency."

Chattering along in this strain for fifteen minutes without allowing Sanford to get in a word finally had Frank on the ropes gasping for wind. Deeming discretion the better part of valor, Sanford finally made his escape and right now he can't stop to wonder whether the 80-year-old lady merely had an hallucination, was a trifle barmy in the upper story or had him doped out as somebody else.

More than 3260 automobiles, with a value of approximately $5,300,000, were stolen in Philadelphia, Pa., last year. Police recovered 2785 cars, some of which were stolen in other cities, valued at $4,506,181.

BUICK CHASSIS CREATES MUCH SHOW COMMENT

One of the big attractions of the Automobile Show is the operating chassis in the Buick booth. This instructive and interesting mechanical exhibit has been creating much comment and both at the daily and evening sessions of the show immense crowds have thronged the aisles surrounding the chassis.

Inasmuch as this is an exact reproduction of the chassis of the 1922 Buick models, motorists get a comprehensive idea of just how the Buick clutch, brakes, and all other moving parts function. The ease of control of the patented gear shift is explained, as it is possible to shift from one speed to another by holding the hand almost stationary.

Motorists who are seeking information regarding this operating chassis and listening to the thorough explanation which is given by the expert in charge.

CUSTOM-BUILT CAR DRAWS CROWD

The Custom Built Kissel Roadster and touring cars made a big hit among the women folk at the Auditorium last night. Husbandmen who brought their wives to the show had a hard time getting them away to see the rest of the exhibits. The jobs are all finished in snappy colors, which is always a winning feature with the final one to make a decision in the family, and we all know who that is.

Latham, Davis & Company, who distribute this line, have a nice space in the corridor where there is more room than in the main arena to show prospects the many features in detail.

Salesmanager Trivett declares that people are more anxious to buy now than ever. They have been waiting and waiting for the final drops of time and are beginning to realize that the end is about here. They feel that the time to buy is right now. Spring is not far away when they will want to take their week-end.

By tonight we expect to close any number of deals.

VISITORS FLOCK AROUND NEW CAR

Once again attention was called to the new Essex coach exhibit in the display of Hamlin & Wichman, Hudson and Essex dealers, according to E. A. Hamlin, this job continues to prove one of the real headlines of the show and has been the center of continual interest.

"The new coach," says Hamlin, "continues to be one of the real headlines of our exhibit and we have been kept busy discussing this handsome enclosed car with large numbers of interested visitors. The coach fulfills the requirements of business and professional men with economy and satisfaction. Further than that it is amply large to meet the family need in both city and country service."

In appointments and furnishings the coach fulfills the demands of the most fastidious buyer and it is repeating the success at the Oakland show that has been credited to it in the eastern sections."

The action of neatfoot oil on the leather lining of the clutch greatly strengthens its fibers.

AUTO SALESMAN PLANS INGENIOUS QUIZ FOR RIVALS

New Models Characterized by Durability As Well As Artistic Finish.

The Jordan exhibit was one of the most pleasing in the show, and the hundreds of show visitors that visited the exhibit left with the impression that there was something more to the Jordan car than just its striking beauty of appearance.

Among the models that were featured in the P. K. Webster Company Jordan exhibit were the Silhouette touring car, the brougham and the Playboy, and each of them had its fair quota of admirers.

The unique advertising gotten out by Ned Jordan for the Oakland Auto Show, in which he asks the prospective purchaser to submit a lot of questions to the various competitive car salesmen, had most of the salesmen on auto-cue guessing.

Officials of the P. K. Webster Company declared that already the good effects of this campaign were being felt in the greater keenness shown by show visitors evidenced in the examination of the various models on display.

Some interesting facts about Jordan and Jordan cars were brought out in a letter from Jordan himself, in which he called attention to the fact that Jordan and one other standard make were the first to announce new models in 1922 and the further prophecy that the Jordan type will be standard in its class for years to come.

"Production has also been doubled at the Jordan plant due to the fact that a liberal price reduction on Jordan cars was put into effect sixty days ahead of all competitors," continues the Eastern information.

Show visitors who know motors and motor car construction were much impressed with the new models and were inclined to agree with Jordan's message that "every single unit and every single detail of the Jordan were bettered in the new model."

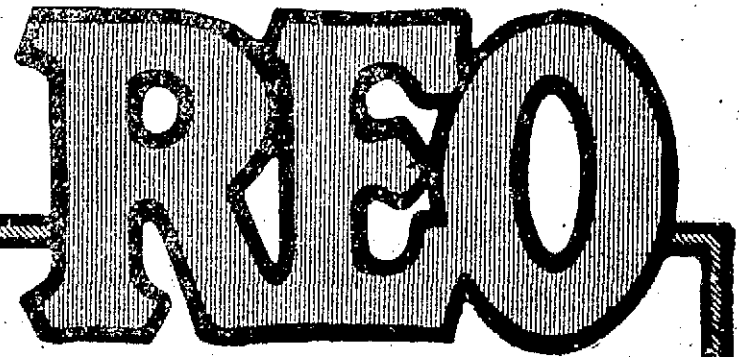

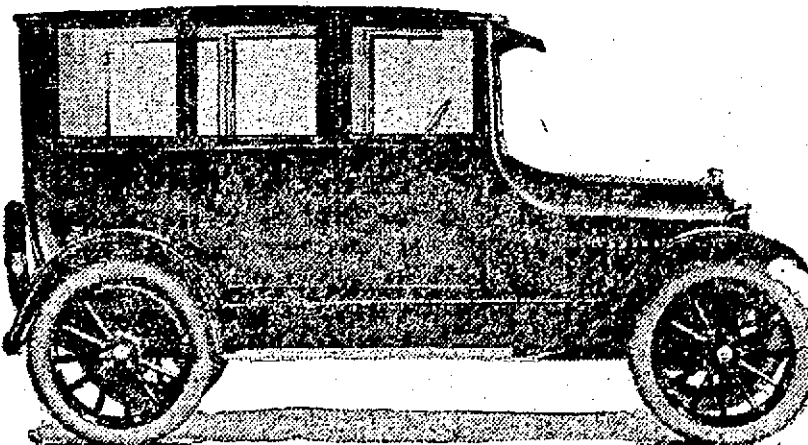

The enthusiasm shown by the visitors of the Jordan exhibit was especially pleasing to local Jordan officials and all voted the show a real success.

PERMANENT TOP FEATURE OF MODEL

Classless models drew considerable attention among the eight cylinder class at the Auto Show last night. Several models were on display, open and closed. The open models now come equipped with the permanent tops which adds a great deal of beauty to the car. This change on the seven passenger touring car and the new four passenger roadster has resulted in a saving in weight and the elimination of noises that often develop in folding tops according to Joseph Leahy, manager of the Pioneer Motor Company, distributors.

In the five passenger sedan model the front and rear seats extend the full width of the body and there are no auxiliary seats. The windows are considerably lower and raised by a lever. This latter arrangement is rapidly coming as standard equipment on the higher-priced cars.

An operator of an automobile should know much more about the car than how to start and stop it.

MINIATURE TRACK IS UNIQUE DISPLAY

A unique display at the Auto Show is that of the Ventura Refining Company, which sells motor oils.

In the exhibit is a miniature race track, similar to the speedways at San Carlos and Cotati. This model is 20 feet long and 10 feet wide and is operated by electricity. Small racing cars, electrically driven, circle the track in three to seven seconds, passing and re-passing each other with much of the realism attached to big automobile races.

In addition to this, a scoreboard keeps record of the laps and a jazz band, electrically animated, dispenses music. Jars of "Ventura" motor oil on turntables and several hundred pounds of paraffin wax make a striking display in the infield.

The Ventura Refining Company recently completed, at the Howard Terminal, the erection of tank car storage and warehouse facilities for the distribution of "Ventura" oil in Oakland and surrounding territory.

There are no fewer than 500 parts in a high class automobile that must pass inspection to .0005 inch.

THROGS CHEER AUTO EXHIBIT; FEATURES NOTED

75-Passenger Brougham Claims Unusual Share of At- tention at Show.

Enthusiasm ran high last night among those who were in charge of the Haynes exhibit in the auditorium.

According to Wallace Nall, manager of Phillip S. Cole, Inc., one of the models which claimed a large share of the evening's attention was the new 75 five-passenger brougham. "This car," states Nall, "is one of the real antiques of the Haynes family. It represents some of the very newest ideas of the automotive world and has proved one of the real sensations of our exhibit."

"It is a five-passenger enclosed car with two front chair-like seats, and a wide, roomy rear divan seat. Because of the seating arrangement, the five passengers are grouped comfortably and conveniently together. The brougham is ideally adapted for social and business purposes."

"The upholstery of this car includes serviceable and beautiful fabrics that harmonize with the body color. Ultra-fashionable French plaited style over curled hair and extra quality pilant cushions are features of the car's appointments, while the driver's seat is upholstered in leather."

"We are more than gratified with the reception that is being accorded our exhibit at the Oakland show and are looking forward to an increase of interest for the balance of the week."

FIRST SHOW SALE HONORS DECIDED

One of the first cars sold at the show, an honor always hotly contended for by the salesmen of the various motor car establishments, was that of a Haynes 55 brougham, a beautiful enclosed offering of the Haynes line displayed in the space of the Phillip S. Cole Company.

The man whose name ornamented the dotted line of the salesman's contract was no less a person than Captain Latham of the California football team.

It appears that footballing gives one an aesthetic taste as well as a respect for sturdiness and power. For Coach's men reported that Latham seemed as much taken with the beauty of design of this special enclosed job as he was with the Haynes' long established record for power and performance.

Wallace Nall, Oakland manager for the Phillip S. Cole establishment, was enthusiastic over the reception accorded the Haynes models and the interest evidenced in the Oakland show by the thousands of people who last night filled the big Auditorium. Another feature that attracted interest to the exhibit as well as the beauty of the open and closed Haynes models which were on display, was the fact that the recent price cut on the models makes the Haynes 55 one of the very attractive values of the season.

SEDAN IS POPULAR EXHIBIT AT SHOW

The new Chevrolet sedan at its first appearance on the Pacific coast has literally taken the motoring public by storm. Since the opening of the Auto Show several cars have been sold and any number of deals are ready to be closed. C. E. Collier, manager of the Chevrolet Motor Company retail branch, is delighted the way the orders have been coming in on this closed model.

"We will fill orders, in rotation and will try our best to keep everyone satisfied," Collier promises.

The bay region is becoming a most popular selling district for the enclosed models. People are not all dissatisfied with the open car, but like to be protected from the weather as much as possible. Many prefer to get away from wearing a bulky overcoat or heavy wraps.

NEW PRICE CUT BRINGS ORDERS AT AUTO SHOW

The Ford exhibit of standard models drew extraordinary crowds last night.

The recent price reduction closed many deals in the big auditorium for the dealers who had the prospects lined up and ready to sell. The Ford dealers all met and greeted one another and before the doors of the show closed they made a resolution to set a record during the show for the rest of the dealers to shoot at. They are determined to double their sales of last year, claiming that the car is better now than ever. The coupe and sedan models were a drawing card, and people do not like to bundle up while motoring and prefer the closed car. Heads of large wholesale houses were on the job looking over the best model which would better suit their salesmen.

New And Unusual MARMON MODELS at the AUTO SHOW

LOCAL AUTO MAN PROVES ADEPT IN BATTLING I. W. W.

Victim Felled With Each Every Blow; History of Clash Recalled.

Years and years ago, that is, "automotively speaking," along about 1911, George Vesper, who is now sales manager for Don Lee here, had a business of his own and was selling Warner-Detroit automobiles. They were supposed to be good automobiles and Vesper thought they were the best in the whole wide world.

To prove to the world that he did have the best, one produced, Vesper started and completed a 15,000-mile non-motor stop run. The whole city of Oakland knew about it. News photographers were rushed to the scene of the arrival of the car on the completion of its record. That is the story that was supposed to have been printed.

As a matter of fact, Vesper had a hard time getting enough of a crowd around his car to make a good photograph, which he wanted to send back to the factory.

"At that time, in 1911, there was a business depression. There were many men out of work and it was a bad season."

The I. W. W. were at the height of their glory and Eleventh street between Broadway and Washington was the scene of their nightly tirades against law, order and everything else.

"Doc" Rogers, photographer of a newspaper here, and he is still in the game, hit on a plan to get a crowd around Vesper's Warren-Detroit car.

He told Vesper to drive the machine down to Eleventh street where the I. W. W. were holding their meeting and that he (Rogers) would climb a ladder and photograph the mob with the car in the foreground.

Vesper drove his car to the appointed spot and waited for Rogers to get his camera in position. Just as he drove up the soap box orator was telling how the rich ground the poor beneath the heel of the oppressor, and how the rich were living in luxury, while the workman starved and so on. When Vesper and his crew drew up in the Warren-Detroit, the orator turned and pointed to them and said there were examples of the men "who are grinding us underfoot."

Vesper is a six-footer, built strong and can hit hard. "As soon as the boys in the Warren-Detroit saw the 'soap-box' point to them they leaped out of the car, thinking they had been insulted, and began swinging their fists. Soon the mob of men was running to get away from those swinging arms. Every time a fist landed an I. W. W. dropped."

A riot call was sent into the police station and the coppers came on the run with drawn guns. These same policemen feared the I. W. W. and did not want to mix with them any more than they had to.

The chief asked Vesper about the fight and said, "Nearly all those men are armed and it is a wonder that I am not hurt."

LATEST MODEL SHOWS FIRST SALE HONORS

Two new Franklin models, never before seen on the coast and just received from the Franklin factory at Syracuse, New York, by the local Franklin Motor Car Company, drew attention last night, hundreds blocking the aisles around the Franklin exhibit to see the new cars.

One of them, the Franklin Touring, is using an immediate buyer in J. H. Davis of Piedmont and along with the sale of a Franklin Brougham to J. H. Fuller of this city, can be recorded as the first car sold at the show.

The Franklin coupe was featured as the other new model direct from the factory, and its popularity was attested by the enthusiasm with which it was received by Franklin fans.

Never were new models given a more cordial welcome—proof that the fellows of the air-cooled Franklin are yearly increasing in numbers and that the factory designers and builders are annually more correctly interpreting the desires of the motoring public in the design and appointments of their new models.

Robert Martland yesterday received a wire of congratulations on the opening of the show and his wishes for its success from G. A. Boyer, president of the Franklin Motor Company, who found a trip to the factory necessary in spite of his preference to stay home.

"You fellows did not get killed," Vesper and his crew had only a few scratches.

Next night the organized disturbers had a rally scheduled in a hall that has now ceased to exist. When the meeting was called the promoters of it found Vesper there. As soon as he was discovered the leaders decided not to hold the meeting.

Vesper has been selling Cadillacs for nine years now for Don Lee and is one of the best known automobile men in the West, and has retired from the practices of acting as a mob-wrecker.

NEW SEDAN DRAWS MANY SHOPPERS TO MOTOR SHOW

Model Shown for First Time Makes Tremendous Hit at Show

One of the enclosed models which is attracting considerable attention at the show is the Chevrolet Sedan. This new model is of the four-door type and replaces the former two-door "Four-ninety" sedan. It is mounted on the improved chassis.

Many new improvements are to be found in this all year round enclosed model. The body is considerably lower, and is slightly longer. Front doors are hung from the front and rear doors from the rear. All doors are equipped with safety latches and anti-rattles.

The color of the body is toned brewster green. The running gear hood is black enamel finish.

Two new features which stand out in this job are the removable upholstery in the back of the rear seat, and the one piece decking material used on top. If the back of the body is dented in any way the back cushions can be taken out by removing two screws, thereby saving considerable time in "driving out" dents.

The one piece material is drawn down over drip moldings and is said to do away with leaky seams, a fault sometimes encountered in closed cars. The front seat is undivided.

From all indications, according to Dick Brooker, sales manager, we will have a hard time filling orders that we have so far taken at the show. People have gone simply mad over the appearance of this new model and the reasonable price at which it is being sold here.

SCOUT MODEL ATTRACTS MANY

The Eight Six Scout model exhibited by the Hansen Garage and Sales Company has been a big drawing card at the Auto Show.

Speculators have rushed the salesmen from all angles and all they have been able to do is to stand by and answer questions that might be asked regarding the new added features of this attractive job.

J. M. Cronan, sales manager for the organization, was kept busy getting names of prospective purchasers who will buy in the near future. He pointed out that the price of the Eight Six is a real selling factor.

Not once during the evening was it necessary to turn anyone away due to the fact that they thought the new prices were too high. "From all indications we will do a splendid business before the show is over," he says.

The automobile industry in Germany has lately taken a prominent place among these industries of the country dependent to a very high degree on the export of their products.

HILL-CLIMBING MOTOR EXHIBIT DRAWS CROWD

The Lexington exhibit is making a phenomenal hit at the Auto Show. Besides the standard makes which are displayed, they have placed on exhibit the famous Ansted motor which has broken many records on the steepest hills in the country. Mounted on a cart and operated by an electrical arrangement, this famous piece of structure slowly turned over, showing the movement of the cylinders and the interior of the engine.

J. F. Kaar at the head of the organization which bears his name, secured to the many spectators the wonders of the famous motor. Kaar talked himself hoarse while his salesmen were busy taking orders and lining up prospects. "We never expected to see such a crowd," Kaar stated. For the last month business has been somewhat quiet, but after the second night's show we are convinced that people have been waiting to see the motor models which each dealer had to display and are now ready to make their pick.

The Overland, which has set up many economy records, was also a big factor at this exhibit. Many sales have been made recently due to the lowness of price and quality, according to Bell.

FOCH PUTS O. K. ON AMERICAN AUTOS

Marshal Foch is quoted as commenting on the fitness of things when, in several cities of his recent triumphal tour, he and the officials accompanying him rode in the car bearing the name of their distinguished countryman LaFayette. Marshal Foch and General Pershing rode side by side in a LaFayette torpedo painted blue, devil blue, in the American Legion parade in Kansas City. Other cities where this sort of transportation was provided were Pittsburgh, San Francisco, Los Angeles and Atlanta.

The hydrometer, the thermometer, volt meter and ammeter are the most common instruments used for testing a storage battery.

BRIGHT COLORS LURE AUTO FANS

The Willys-Knight and Overland exhibit received its share of attention at the Auto Show last night. Many of the jobs were finished with the bright attractive colors which are appealing to many enthusiastic motorists. Every salesman was busy either with a prospect he had waited on and had not as yet closed or giving in detail to the interested party a lecture on the superiority of his car over any other make.

The seven valve motor which is the equipment of the Willys-Knight motor was explained to the multitude. Herbert Bell of Bell & Boyd, distributors of these two lines, stated that he has seen many shows and never before has he witnessed such a wonderful display of standard makes of cars.

One of the largest motor freight terminals in the country is in St. Louis, Mo., with 75 trucks, 25 trailers and 199 semi-trailers.

Distribute the load in the car body so each tire will bear its proportionate share of the weight carried.

High School President to Call Meeting of Alumni to Consider Campaign.

He proposes that each member of the high school alumni contribute to the fund the value of $10 to $20, and that the high school alumni and teachers contribute $100 to $200 each.

SUPERVISOR KNOX RESIGNS POST ON LIVERMORE BOARD

William Rees Becomes Mayor;
Dr. F. L. Savage and Chester Beck Appointed.

LIVERMORE, Jan. 18.—Supervisor Thomas E. Knox, for sixteen years a member of the town board of trustees and for several years mayor, has resigned that he may give his whole time to his duties in the county office to which he was appointed after the death of Supervisor Daniel Murphy. Trustee William Rees, one of the leading business men of the city, has succeeded to the office of mayor. At the same time the resignation of Trustee T. E. Knox was filed.
Dr. F. L. Savage and Chester M.
Beck were appointed to the two vacancies. Knox's resignation was made necessary by his removal to Turlock, where he has gone into business.

The appointment of Savage and Beck gave general satisfaction. They both are solidly established, in a professional and business way, and both are strongly representative of the forward element of the town's citizenship.

The resignation of Mayor Knox was received with a feeling of deep regret by the members of the board and other town officials, who undoubtedly expected to have him continue to lead the town in the future. Knox stated that he felt it would be better for the best interest of the board that he take this step since his duties as supervisor required so much of his time.

During his incumbency the various boards with which he has been connected have carried on a very progressive administration. As chairman he has handled town matters in a manner that has created a feeling of confidence in him by the people and his retirement will be a matter of regret. The elevation of Rees to the mayoralty is generally approved.

WOMAN FRIEND OF LINCOLN DIES

of Mrs. Caroline Brown, 88, one of the pioneer settlers of Martinez and the widow of the late Judge Thomas A. Brown of this city, was held here was prominent in Martinez for a great number of years in church and club activities.

Illinois, in 1834, and was raised on the banks of the Sangamon river, where her father, Rev. John Cameron, owned a large grist mill, and where Abraham Lincoln worked during his youth. Mrs. Brown knew Lincoln in her girlhood and has told many stories of sitting on the knee of the man who was later to become President. Ann Rutledge, whom Lincoln was engaged at the time, was a first cousin of Mrs.
Brown.

The funeral services were held in Grace Episcopal church, where Mrs.
Brown attended services during her life in this city. She was one of the few persons who assisted in erecting the building a great number of years ago.

Hayward Bootlegger Clean-Up Is Asked

HAYWARD, Jan. 18.—No intimation of the possible action of the board of trustees, which meets here tonight, on the bootlegging situation in Hayward, has been given out prior to the session. Several civic organizations, among them the Civic League of Women Voters and the Hayward Chamber of Commerce, are advocating a "clean-up" of the illicit liquor peddlers alleged to be operating here.
Representatives of these two bodies will be at the board room this evening. The action necessary, according to the advocates of the drive, is simply one of law enforcement, as the local ordinance covering the unlawful sale of liquor is known to be a strong one. Many of the petty crimes committed in Hayward can be traced directly to the "bootleg ring" and its attendant evils, state the dry leaders.

"Out-of-Date Tea" Is Given for Club Fund

HAYWARD, Jan. 18.—A large proportion of Hayward's social "club" attended a unique "Out-of-Date Tea" at the home of Mrs. Henry Powell on Castro street from 2 to 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The affair was conducted for the benefit of the clubhouse of the Hill and Valley club.
Each member is pledged to raise as much over a certain amount as possible. A few dollars has been very added to the club-house fund.

Decorations at the Powell home were in keeping with the spirit of the afternoon. Even the calendar showed "Out-of-Date" Monday original costumes were seen at the tea, so many, in fact, that a comparison was impossible, according to the guests.
No prizes were offered, the entire proceeds of the affair being added to the club-house fund.

New Teacher for Hayward Selected

board. The new school room at the Hayward grammar school is already filled to overflowing. Harder says, and the room at the John Gamble school is also crowded. The enrollment of pupils at this time is unusually heavy, says the clerk.

The new teachers appointed are Miss Mary Mello and Miss Helen Merrichson. The resignation of Miss Alice Keast has been accepted by the board. Miss Keast will return

WORK ORDERED TO START AT ONCE ON SCHOOL BUILDING

Erection of Gymnasium for New Group Is Approved by Education Board.

BERKELEY, Jan. 18.—After months of discussion of ways and means, actual work toward starting the erection of a gymnasium for the new high school group of buildings was ordered yesterday by the board of education.

Architect W. C. Hays was instructed by the board to complete revised plans for the building preparatory to calling for bids. The sum of $10,000 is available in the high school fund for the proposed gymnasium, all of which, with the exception of $10,000, will be used for the building. The $10,000 is being reserved for the development of a track and other outdoor athletic equipment.

According to present plans of the board, the new gymnasium building will be only 1-1/2 stories of a swimming tank. There is not a sufficient amount of money, according to board members, to completely install the pool.

DISCUSSION OF FEE

A discussion as to what fee Architect Hays should charge for revising original plans for the building was conducted by Director Carl Part-low, and resulted in the board adjourning to meet in special session to receive an approximate figure from the architect as to the money involved.

Various parts of construction work at the new high school academic building were accepted by the board preparatory to throwing the building over with the new school term next Monday. An expenditure of $1500 for remodeling rooms in the old academic building for use by part-time classes was authorized.

The board ordered the sale of the old McKinley elementary building on Haste street to Frank and Linda
G. Dodd for a private normal school for the sum of $11,875, provided plans made by the Dodds prove satisfactory to the district attorney's cash, with seven per cent interest on deferred balance.

IN DIVISION AND DISUNION STALKS DESTRUCTION

Mayor Frank Otis of Alameda, in an open forum discussion of the scheme of county division in Berkeley Monday evening, called the attention of the people of that city to a highly important contingency in the event the plot of the divisionists should succeed. And while Mayor Otis mentioned Berkeley's possible position, in order to drive the thought home, he must have had in mind that Alameda and Oakland would face the same position should the present county be divided into three counties.

"If Berkeley goes it alone," said the Alameda mayor, "it will have two assemblymen and possibly a senator. This fact must not be lost sight of in view of the difficulties put in the way of getting university appropriations and of the advantages of having a strong delegation to make the Berkeley fight. It may be a political reason, but it is a practical reason."

It is a practical reason before it is a political one. The university is not the only project in which the value of a large legislative delegation at Sacramento is realized on. At present Alameda county is the third most populous county in the State. It has the third largest legislative delegation. It is among the first three most wealthy counties, among those having the largest variety of interests and resources. In the actual transactions of the legislature, it has frequently exerted an influence even larger than that exerted by either San Francisco or Los Angeles.

And it is to be recalled that in the handling of the university's legislative program, the Alameda delegation has stood as a unit, stood against assault and obstruction from other quarters, stood always for a greater University of California, and for the ideals and administrative program of the governing body of the university.

If the county is divided what may happen? If three antagonistic counties, each jealous of the prestige of the other, are created where one county now exists, what may be the fortunes of the university? They may be substantially different when Berkeley goes to Sacramento with two assemblymen and "possible one senator."

We venture these observations because they apply to Oakland as well as to Berkeley. They apply when the question of an agricultural exhibit, of harbor matters, of local educational problems, of a State armory, of a score of other subjects are up for consideration. And if the factor of united strength and influence is important at Sacramento it is important in other connections. It was overruling in the recent fight for the naval base site for the Eastbay shore; it will be important in the future.

It is unthinkable that the people of the Eastbay communities will play into the onerous hands of outside interests by dividing their strength and their power.

CLEMENCEAU AGAIN.

One other picturesque episode of French politics last week was the first issue, on January 10th, of a new Paris newspaper, the Echo National, with M. Georges Clemenceau, war premier and widely known as "The Tiger," as publisher. It was more than a coincidence that the next day after this journalistic event Premier Briand rushed home from the interlarded conference at Cannes and on the following day submitted his resignation to President Millerand.

To what extent the first event shaped the second, or anticipated it, is not known, but that Clemenceau's new venture was not a sudden thought is indicated by the statement that it "needs no justification for its birth or its name; the only excuse needed is for the tardiness of its appearance."

It is also an interesting fact that M. Andre Tardieu, political comrade of Clemenceau, and at present special European correspondent for The Tribune, is the political editor of Echo National. Clemenceau, who has lost nothing of his former vigor, who still favors the tactics of the tiger—to tear down—and Tardieu make as strong a journalistic team as could be mustered in France. They start out with the declaration that for two years past France has been in the hands of governments "of abdication," and that its intention is to tell the public the whole truth.

This newspaper will demand a vigorously severe policy toward Germany, the policy which he carried out to the bitter end. Clemenceau, Tardieu, Poincare—a strong trio. They fought the defeatist and the traitors in war; they will fight the "abdicationists" in peace.

NO CALL FOR IMPATIENCE.

Mr. Henry Ford complains loudly against Secretary of War Weeks because his proposal to take over the water project at Muscle Shoals, Alabama, has not been accepted at once. Apparently he desires to excite sympathy for himself among the people because the proper government officials have elected to scrutinize his proposal and ascertain just how it would affect the public interest.

But in all conscience, and without depreciating the public spiritedness of Mr. Ford's offer, it is urgent that the proposal should be examined carefully. Briefly, Mr. Ford offers $5,000,000 for a property on which the federal government already has spent $87,000,000. Thus he wants the government to knock off 94 percent on terms that will require him to pay no cash down. He offers an annual rental of about $1,725,000, but the United States to pay all upkeep bills, which would mean that the taxpayers would not get much more than two percent on their investment. He wants a lease nominally for 100 years, but virtually perpetual.

Now, this may be a perfectly fair and equitable proposition. But obviously it is a matter for the Secretary of War, who has responsible authority over the Muscle Shoals project, his technical advisors and the Congress to examine it to the smallest detail. Such examination is inevitable, for before an agreement of the kind sought can be concluded with Mr. Ford authority must be granted by Congress. If it is not fully investigated by the War Department, Congress will turn it down as a matter of principle or order an investigation on its own account.

It should be plain, therefore, that impatience is as unseemly as it is sure to be ineffectual. A certain routine must be gone through with, a routine prescribed by the people's legislative representatives for the protection of the public interest. Mr. Ford must know this and if he is really in earnest about wanting to take over the Muscle Shoals project he must submit to the usual processes. But if he merely desires to obtain prominent mention and to try to embarrass the government he can complain, of course, and possibly withdraw his proposal.

Italy, according to reports, has instructed her delegates at Washington to inform the disarmament conference that she will not assent to the agreement settling the Yap cable controversy in the Pacific unless she is given direct cable communication with New York. If Italy intends merely to bargain with her "assent" to a settlement in the Pacific for an advantage in the Atlantic, perhaps the other Powers will find it possible to go ahead with the Pacific settlement without Italy's approval.

President Poincare is considering with favorable inclinations the Anglo-French treaty Mr. Briand and Mr. Lloyd George signed at Cannes and has designed to carry out Mr. Briand's program for French representation in the economic conference to be held at Genoa, which also is to be attended by Moscow Bolshevik delegates. These, then, are not seriously among the details on which the Poincare faction differed with Mr. Briand.

Haskell, the renegade clergyman, arrested a few days ago in San Jose, extended his confessed list of crimes yesterday by admitting five Oakland burglaries. Pretty soon he will have exposed enough meanness to summon to his defense a lot of sentimental "boobs" and neuro-psychologists.

If truth is an obstruction to your journeying, turn around and retrace your steps, seeking the right road; you have been on the wrong one.

NATIONAL FARM CONFERENCE.

President Harding suggested to the secretary of agriculture recently the desirability of a conference in Washington on "the severe agricultural depression which exists throughout the land." Within a fortnight such a conference will assemble.

The delegates will represent chiefly, but not wholly, farmers and cattle breeders. It was part of the President's general plan to have adequately represented the various industries "closely connected with agriculture," or immediately affected by the vicissitudes of the most basic of national industries. Accordingly, bankers, manufacturers and others will be invited to attend and give their views of the possible effective remedies for the present agricultural depression.

At this conference opportunity should and no doubt will be afforded to leaders of the so-called agricultural bloc in Congress to present and defend their special program of relief. Features of this program have been criticized severely. The more thoroughly they are discussed the better for all concerned. On the other hand, some of the measures urged by the agricultural bloc are sound in every way, and discussion of them cannot fail to advance their application.

Of late certain farmers' organizations have recognized the necessity of American co-operation with Europe in solving the after-war economic problems. They have recognized also the interdependence of political and financial problems. If Europe curtails imports of American foodstuffs the American farmers suffer. If Europe restricts American imports in any line, the unemployed workmen in that line cannot buy the American farmers' produce. American isolation is impossible, and some of the remedies for agricultural ills will be found in controllable and enlightened solutions of such problems as tariff, reparations, international credits and exchange.—Chicago Daily News.

THAT MYSTERIOUS ICEBERG IN THE PACIFIC.

NOTES and COMMENT

The Wilson foundation fund is differentiated from a drive in that all offerings are to be voluntary. California is expected to contribute $20,000 of the million which is the goal. Many funds have been raised for memorials and such objects, but they have not been of the shirking kind. For the most part contributions have been extracted by solicitation, which has sometimes been difficult to sidestep. It will be a fine test of the popularity of a movement involving a fund of $1,000,000 if it is successful on the voluntary contribution lay.

All of the notices of Senator Penrose's successor, are favorable. He is represented to be as able a lawyer as Knox, and a greater orator than any of the noted Pennsylvanians who have come to the surface in the country's later history. He is said to be in receipt of a professional income five times greater than that which he will enjoy as a Senator. It is not said anywhere that he is a master of political finesse, but it is apparent that he is a foremost citizen of the great commonwealth.

It may be good for real art, which would not seem to require extravagance of the drunken-sailor-spendthrift-money sort, that a reef has been taken in the sails of the Chicago Grand Opera Company. Hard-headed business men are eliminating the deadwood, which appears to have accumulated through the McCormick control. If an $800,000 deficit had not caused an overhauling of finances it is difficult to imagine what would.

The Brooklyn Eagle, in noticing the death of Clinton A. Snowden, editor, tells of his achieving the strangest scoop in journalistic history—writing to the Chicago Times the full text of the revised New Testament, held secret in London but a copy of which he had secured from a fellow passenger on an ocean steamer. That was a good many years ago. It is interesting to consider whether such a feat would be considered a great scoop today.

The Oregonian has this: "Hotels have posted a letter under the glass cover on the dresser, announcing that 'parties' are no longer to be tolerated, nor can visiting be carried on in the rooms. Men must entertain their women friends in the public parlor and women cannot receive male friends in their rooms. A special house officer is on duty, clothed with police authority, and is to put the kibosh on parties. The hotel men took this action following a letter from the prohibition enforcement officer." Also they may have had in mind the Arbuckle incident.

It really looks as though some kind of treatment besides probation and light sentences will be justified eventually if not now, as to reckless automobile drivers. Such accidents as running over the little girl in San Francisco, and that reported from San Mateo, where a switchman was run down, assists to that conclusion. The day of warnings and of emphatic ordinances to restrain this recklessness are of little avail, and something will be justified that undoubtedly means business.

Postmaster-General Hays is referred to as "the Landis of the movies." It is a fairly reasonable parallel. Landis was selected to head baseball because it needed bracing, not because he was a baseball expert. Hays has been similarly chosen to head the film industry. It was realized that a strong man at the head would be a stabilizer.

The Oregonian notices that Tex Rickard had to abandon his expurgated bull fight at Madison Square Garden because he couldn't find a bull that would fight. But it concludes that any kind of a bull would have put up as thrilling an exhibition as most of the human fights that are staged nowadays.

News from Des Moines tells of the escape of a legless prisoner from the jail there. Very clearly the bastille ought to be reopposed, or something. It would naturally be figured that a legless person was somewhat handicapped for such an achievement, but of course it is impossible to judge from this distance of the formidability of the Iowa jails.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

THE LITERAL TRUTH.
Now an honest man was Bill McGann and honest was Jim McNabb.

But Bill was blunt and plain of front while Jim had the gift of gab; Jim stuck to the truth in important things, but he sugarcoated his talk at times.

But Bill McGann had a stricter plan—which is why I am writing these rhymes.

The two of them loved the self-same girl, and a beautiful maid was she, But Bill fell short when he went to court, too honest to win was he.

For Jim McNabb, with the gift of gab, wooed Kate in a different way.

He promised her things like diamond rings if only she'd name the day.

He promised her furs for her pretty neck, and dresses of silk and lace.

He vowed as his wife she could live her life as a lady of ease and grace.

A mansion of stone and a car of her own, he pledged to the lady fair, Which heads of them knew that he never could do, but little they seemed to care.

Now Bill McGann was a truthful man, and never the truth he'd shrink;

"If you'll share my life as my gentle wife, there are times that you'll have to work."

"There'll be beds to make, and pies to bake, an' dishes to wash," he said.

And both of them knew what he told was true, for it happens to all who wed.

Now pretty Kate is Mrs. McNabb and Jim's making the bed for her.

And poor old Bill is a bachelor still for never a girl takes him.

For maidens fair never seem to care for the hero who comes to woo.

However he acts if he sticks to the facts, for the literal truth won't do.

About YOUR HEALTH

How You Should Act In One Uncommon Emergency
By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M.D.
Commissioner of Health,
New York City.

For some reason, difficult to understand, obstruction of the bowel is a very serious condition.

One may be constipated and having bowel movement for a week. This is an uncomfortable state of affairs, but life is not endangered as a result. But obstruction of the bowel, continuing for two or three days, is very apt to prove fatal.

Fortunately, this trouble is uncommon. It does not come from trifling causes and complications which produce it are rarely met.

Since some of the causes of obstruction are things which can be corrected or avoided, it is well for us to consider them. Perhaps this knowledge will result in the removal of a source of danger and make it possible for some one to live a longer and more productive life.

We medical men make a distinction between "obstruction" and "impaction."

Impaction is in most cases due to faulty eating.

In "pepping" corn you remember that some of the kernels, especially if the corn is damp or too fresh, do not pop open, producing big, white, appetizing morsels. On the contrary, they are left in the form of hard, brittle, slightly cracked and swollen, headlike pellets.

I saw one rather serious case of impaction, due to the imperfect chewing and swallowing of large quantities of this unpopcorned corn. Another similar case was due to a forty-day diet of uncooked wheat and other cereals.

Obstruction of the bowel, unless it comes from some growth inside the intestine, is due to pressure placed on the outside of the intestinal wall. The most common offender is scar tissue. The pressure of scar tissue is due to one of two things, operation or inflammation, or both. Any operation where the abdomen is opened will leave more or less scar tissue. The difference between a good operation and a poor one lies, among other things, in the care with which the surgeon guards against unnecessary inflammation and damage of the tissues.

Inflammation of the bowels—peritonitis, as it is called—resulting from formation, will produce adhesion in the abdomen.

Sometimes these scars reach all the way round the outer wall of the intestine, forming a band or scar across it.

Such tissue is inclined to contract and may do so to such a degree as to cut off or strangle the bowel. Sometimes these scars are tough, bands or strings of scar tissue extending across one corner of the abdominal cavity. The twisting, moving and sliding of the intestines may be followed by a part of the intestinal tube getting wrapped around one of these bands, with resulting strangulation.

In hernia, or rupture, a part of the bowel slips through a break or a weak place in the abdominal wall. Sometimes this part of intestine gets twisted or doubled on itself, causing "strangulated hernia." Happily, there is a very uncommon experience. Very few ruptured persons ever have it.

Needless to say, suspicion of bowel obstruction should cause you to call the doctor at once. The pain becoming intense, bloating, vomiting, the matter having a fecal odor—all make clear that some serious trouble is at hand. You must call your physician or surgeon without delay and follow his advice religiously.

FIREMEN TO HOLD DANCE TO AID IDLE

Big Benefit Planned for January 26; 200 Given Work on Car Routes; Donations Swell Relief Fund Total.

On the evening of January 26 the Oakland fire department will give a dance at the municipal auditorium for the benefit of the unemployed and their families.

Plans are being made under the direction of Fire Chief Sam Short and no expense will be attached to the affair. The music will be furnished by the Firemen's band.

Tickets are now being sold for the dance by members of the department and employees of the other departments in the city hall who are uniting to make the dance a success.

200 GIVEN JOBS.

That things are looking more cheerful was announced by W. S. Goodrich, superintendent of the municipal woodyard, this morning, when he had completed certification of 200 men to the San Francisco-Oakland Terminal Railway.

These men went to work in Hayward this morning on the tracks and pavements but another revolving fund will have to be established to take care of them according to Goodrich.

The railway has announced that it will pay on Saturday for work up to the Wednesday preceding, said Goodrich. "In many instances these men who went to work today will not be able to get by with $3 on Saturday. We must have some way of loaning them money on their checks."

This matter will be taken up with the citizens' committee at its next meeting, according to Goodrich.

LEGION MEN BUSY.

Goodrich is now being assisted in the work of registration and investigation at the woodyard by a representative of the American Legion employed by the citizens' committee to investigate the cases of the ex-service men.

A typical case was reported today at the woodyard, according to Goodrich. A man with a wife and three small children appeared at the window for aid. He is a veteran of the Spanish-American war and also the World War. From the Spanish-American war he is receiving $18 a month compensation.

This money is used for his rent but nothing remains for food. On Christmas the American Legion and the War Mothers sent down two apple boxes of food and the contents were used until yesterday. The man is suffering from an incurable disease and is unable to work.

DONATIONS CONTINUE.

Goodrich announced this morning that he received $84 in contributions yesterday. One was a check for $50 from the Master Plumbers' association, another was a check for $7 from the White Sewing club. The Master Plumbers said that a check

On Saturday morning 600 Boy Scouts will gather at the Franklin theater to "test their mettle" on the campaign for funds and employment to be conducted by them.

SCOUTS TO CANVASS.

The scouts are to conduct a house to house canvass, under the direction of the citizens' emergency employment fund and relief committee.

Chester A. Witherington, field executive of the scouts, will be present at the meeting to aid in the work of organization. The entire city will be divided into districts and the boys will be assigned to certain parts. Each boy will carry a card for the householder to sign and these cards will be turned over to the woodyard.

The card will be an offer of employment for odd jobs about the house or garden. The scouts will also carry printed matter telling of the woe and distress now prevalent in hundreds of Oakland homes.

"BIG BUSINESS" BLAMED.

Responsibility for the present unemployment crisis was laid at the door of "big business" by William Spooner, secretary of the Central Labor Council today.

"The 'big people' who brought all these people into Oakland during the war to break strikes should be the ones to take care of them now," said Spooner.

"Of course the Central Labor council is doing all in its power to alleviate the suffering of these people," he continued, "but that does not alter the case."

"At the present time the various organizations of the Labor Temple are taking care of their own people and are also co-operating to the fullest with the citizens' committee."

SKILLED MEN IDLE.

"I have no way of estimating how many skilled workmen are out of employment now but the number is large. The only skilled men who are employed are those classified as miscellaneous."

"This classification includes barbers, culinary workers and similar crafts. The others are uniformly in dire circumstances."

J. Maxwell Taft, appointed yesterday to succeed A. Jonas on the board of directors of the woodyard, took charge today. He is an Oakland merchant and former senior vice commander of Oakland Port, American Legion.

Taft will be active in the handling of the unemployment relief, having been a member of the citizens' relief committee prior to his appointment in an official capacity.

HALT ORDERED IN ALIMONY SHOULD WOMAN WORK

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 18.—Superior Judge George Cabaniss awarded Mrs. Margaret Tohlman $75 a month alimony today in granting her a divorce from George W. Tohlman of Burlingame, but warned her she would forfeit the alimony if she accepts any position paying her a salary large enough to live upon.

Mrs. Tohlman sued Tohlman, who is an insurance broker, on the ground of cruelty. She charged he had beaten and struck her. The court awarded the decree and the alimony.

When, however, Judge Cabaniss learned that the plaintiff, over her husband's protest, had sought work in a moving picture studio, the edict in connection with the forfeiture of the alimony followed.

COUNCIL TO PAY BILL FOR INJURED MAN

A medical and hospital bill for $159 for R. L. Hunt, disabled fireman, who fell off a truck several months ago, occupied most of the city council session today as the auditor had rejected the bill.

City Attorney Leon E. Gray advised the council that the board of inquiry, meeting in Hunt's case, had developed three possibilities, any of which was logical. They were: 1.—That he deliberately jumped off the truck. 2.—That he fell off the apparatus through gross carelessness. 3.—That he fell despite his best efforts. Gray said that the board of inquiry hearing developed conflicting evidence.

Commissioner Frank Colburn said that the medical and hospital bills were rendered in good faith and he suggested that they be paid. The matter was finally referred to the city attorney for a resolution which will compel payment over the city auditor's protest.

Superintendent Howard Does Not Want to Break Up Club With Star Players Gone.

By EDDIE MURPHY.

Claude Cooper, the Oaks' flashy outfielder, and one of the fastest men in the Pacific Coast league, will not step up to the majors next season as was expected he would do. Not because he is not considered good enough to pasture with the big-tent fellows, but the owners of the local club do not want to wreck their team for next season. With Jack Miller, Babe Pinelli and Lonnie Guisto already gone, the local owners will have quite a job patching the team up so it will look like a pennant contender. For a while Del Howard

The official announcement yesterday from Oakland club baseball headquarters that Ivan Howard is to manage the Oaks on the field next season did not cause any surprise among the local baseball fans, for they were expected to find it rare that a woman ago in these uniforms. For the benefit of many fans who have been making inquiries about Ivan Howard, let us say his debut in professional baseball fifteen years ago with the Cedar Rapids division down the line. The Oakland Natives, who have just about clinched the pennant in the National League, the Melrose Merchants and the Whelan Market clubs are the favorites to fall before the Merchants. The District of Columbia are expected to put over another big win next Sunday when they travel to Washington.

Alameda boys have been sticking fight around the top. A few hard hits were made on the defense. Much credit for the great work of the defense was given to Alameda Ed Vitt, manager. The first sacker has been playing fine ball, and has not been injured. The defense and guardsmen of Infield positions displayed their class last Sunday against the Vicksburg team.

"Lefty" McClintock, pitcher for the Clement Dugns in the American division of the A league, pitched an excellent game against the Vicksburg team. After that he retired from the game, and his next move now is to the Chicago team.

"The chances are that he will do some."

The fans around Eubank were treated to a grand exhibition of ball when the R. W. Tutts, huffer of the Class B league, held the first National Bank team of Richmond, Virginia, to a score of 5 to 0. The Tutts lads showed the Bankers a lot of class. A crowd of about 100 saw the TRIBUNE leaguers would fall before the power of the Tutts.

When given something to do, the boys kept the lead till the eighth frame when the score was four and two and "Lefty" Gallera took the mound, and showed the Bankers a few things. Holding Husband
by Adele Garrison

The sound of my voices approaching us made me look up quickly. Dicky and Miss Foster were coming toward us. They must have strolled from the shortest possible distance before returning. I found myself wondering whether it were Dicky or the girl who had suggested the return.

"Time to change partners," Dicky called, as he came toward us. "I've just been telling Miss Foster that this moonlight is entirely too wonderful to waste on a staid old married man like me. Now Pettit, the contrary, ought to be in just the moon to lead out into it. Nothing like an old bachelor for sentiment."

"How about it, Doc?"

Both tone and words were provocative. I saw that beneath Dicky's gravity lurked the antagonism toward the physician which is always his. I trembled lest the nerves of both men might break into some sort of clash. That Miss Foster sensed the same thing without my knowledge to back her intuition I realized as her clear voice followed close upon Dicky's gibes.

"Your husband isn't half as nice as you are, Mrs. Graham," she said rapidly, as if talking against time, and her lips pouted charmingly. "He almost matches you in looks, I'll have to admit, though reluctantly."

"He casts a swift little glance at him from beneath his lowered eyelids—then he hasn't any manners at all. All he can do is to talk about his wife and her perfections—and this is a perfectly good moonlight on the effect that ought to be good to him. Complimenting the moon? Come along with me, Dr. Pettit. I warn you if you don't quote a sonnet to me erebrows by the light of this moon I'm off to my own. As the children say, forever and ever."

DICKY'S DISAPPROVAL

Her voice was gay, insolent, as she snatched the physician's hand and drew him away with her over her shoulder. He said no word of farewell to us, only lifted his hat and bowed, with a formality that appeared ridiculous under the circumstances. I was contrasting his stiffness with Dicky's charming ease of manner, guessed that underneath her merriest exterior she was a bit chagrined that Dicky had not chosen to remain longer in company on the moonlit beach. But my heart was beating high with triumph.

"Geel!" Dicky's voice was full of triumph as he watched her. "She's a real couple. What a girl like that can see in that far of pickled cucumbers I can't make out. And yet, I don't know. Perhaps there's something in it. She's a girl who talks as much as she does tonight. She'd drive an ordinary man to drink."

"Because he'd want to talk, himself," I queried slyly.

"Well, she's a snatched. I don't believe she missed a beat tonight from Ireland's freedom to Einstein's theory. And, of course, she knows everything there is to know. She's a girl who's still the same as she was so dippy in five minutes and I threw up my hands and pleaded an engagement with you."

So it was he who had suggested the return. He was the one who beat Foster off, and the glamour of the evening returned to me in a sweeping tide. Dicky tucked my hand under his arm and turned with me in the direction chosen to remain longer in company with Miss Foster.

"WHAT'S ON YOUR MIND?"

"A trace to 'em," he said. "They're nearly chafed. They didn't quite accomplish it. Come along and let's forget everything and everybody but ourselves."

The next half hour will always be a clear memory as one of my most precious experiences. Talk about the thrill of love's first assurance! It is a weak emotion compared with that which comes to the heart of a girl who comes to the heart of a man after several years married, when the husband she makes— and perhaps has doubted—makes her understand beyond all doubting or fearing that she is still the same as she was in all the years for him.

This assurance Dicky gave me, with words, with kisses and caresses, with rapturous gaze which was in itself a caress. I forgot completely for a time that there was anything so old in the world as any care or responsibility.

Then a chance remark of Dicky's brought me back to the world of the world this end of the island it he said, "I'd like to live here forever."

YOU NEVER CAN TELL.

In the heart of a big city we find a working girl about 15 years of age, whose name is Hortense Westmore. This girl is very different from the one we have been acquainted with. She hates the sight of children whose clothes are dirty. One day we see Hortense in a limousine out driving. To avoid driving in the traffic we find her on the same street. Wuffles, who is a little girl, is fighting with the kids but she drives a little faster because she cannot bear to see a girl with such dirty clothes. Wuffles was taken back to her own childhood days, when she was permitted to fight with other boys and girls.

A few weeks have passed since we last saw our friends. But Wuffles is coming down the street, when we see her stop. A little girl is crossing the street. A limousine is coming down the street. "Oh, you poor kid, wait, wait," the little girl did not hear her. With another cry Wuffles snatches the little girl just in time from being crushed in the wheels. But by saving the girl Wuffles is knocked unconscious by a blow from the fender.

When Wuffles comes to she is lying in a pretty bedroom with a pretty girl standing by her. "By looking closely we find that both girls look alike, but there is a slight difference. Wuffles looks as though she would always burst with happiness, even if she did without her supper once in a while to eat the apples."

The White Moll
by FRANK L. PACKARD

Rhoda Gray, known in New York's underworld as "The White Moll," because of her hair, found Gypsy Nan dying. The woman confessed that she had assumed the disguise of "Gypsy Nan" to escape the electric chair. She died after extracting a promise from the White Moll to remove old Skarbo's hoarded wealth from his secret place to prevent a theft planned by the Gypsy. Rhoda was caught in the act by "Rough Rocco," a relentless police detective. A well-dressed young man drank coffee with the officer and Rhoda escaped and fled to Nan's garret. She assumed Skarbo's disguise and staged a robbery for The White Moll when Rocco searched the premises. A paper wrapped around her door key to its hiding place bore the numbers "1 2 3."

In this, still unexplained Gypsy Nan, Rhoda Gray is visited by the immaculate young man who humped into the officer. He asked her to remove old Skarbo's hoarded wealth from his secret place to prevent a theft planned by the Gypsy. Rhoda was caught in the act by "Rough Rocco," a relentless police detective. A well-dressed young man drank coffee with the officer and Rhoda escaped and fled to Nan's garret. She assumed Skarbo's disguise and staged a robbery for The White Moll when Rocco searched the premises. A paper wrapped around her door key to its hiding place bore the numbers "1 2 3."

Over against the wall, the man's hand was on the door. He opened the door of a safe stood wide open and the floor was littered with papers and documents. Opposite the safe, and near the doorway in which she stood, was a window recessed three feet diagonally across from her. She stepped backward to the wall, knelt, and reached behind her with her left hand, and cut the heavy cord that bound the Sparrow's arm; then pushed the knife into the Sparrow's hands.

A moment more, and the Sparrow stood beside her. His thumb began to feel over the blade of the big jack-knife in a sort of horrible appraisal of its "skates," he whispered. "You were going to bump me off, were you? Well, it's my turn now, and—his body was colling itself in a slow, steady, snake-like fashion—and you'll—"

Rhoda Gray laid a hand on the Sparrow's arm. "Not that way, Marty," she said quietly. "I wouldn't care to have anything happen to Mr. Daugler. There's enough cord there for both of them. Tie them in their chairs, Marty."

As the Sparrow finished, she motioned him to the door, and then tucked to the door herself, and retreated down the stairs. Rhoda Gray led the way, and finding the street clear, hurried on. "Well," she said, "I'm not out of this yet."

"I know it," he said. "I got to get those shiners back up there, and I got to get that paper they planted on me."

"Even that wouldn't clear you," she said. "The safe has been looted of money, as well; and you can't replace that."

"My God!" he faltered. He wet his lips. "That's true."

"Marty," she said quietly. "Would you trust me with what is left to be done tonight? I'll tell you. I'll have it. I can get you out of this."

"Sure, I would," he said simply. "Well, then, how do you get into Mr. Hayden-Bond's house at night?"

"I've got a key to the garage, he answered. "The garage is attached to the house."

The Sparrow extended the key. "It's for the small door, of course," he explained.

"You haven't a flashlight?" she asked. "Sure! Each car's got one with its tools under the back seat."

"And now, the library," she said. "He told her. "But ain't I going with you?"

"You're going home, Marty. Find a taxi, and send it home. I'll wait for you to get to the corner of the cross street, one block in the rear of Mr. Hayden-Bond's residence. Give the chauffeur simply street directions. Be careful that he doesn't know you, and give him this to begin with."

Uncle Wiggly's Stories
by HOWARD R. GARDNER

A strange look came over his face.

There, exclaimed Nurse Jane Wiggly one day as she stepped back from the kitchen table in the hollow stump bungalow, I think that will be a lovely cake for the party."

"Oh, yes," Nurse Jane answered. "I'm going to see the cake and put some things on top. I'll wait until afternoon for that. The cake will be cool then—it's just out of the oven. Oh, I'll make the cake fancy enough to suit you."

"I'm glad of that," said the bunny, twinkling his pink nose like a pair of diamond carules from the six and seven cent store. "And while I'm waiting for the party I might as well go and wash my face. My whiskers are getting a bit long."

So Uncle Wiggly went up to the bath room. With his brush he mixed a lot of latherful white soap suds, which later he spread on his face and scraped off later, taking the whiskers into his pocket.

Uncle Wiggly was about to wash the white, creamy lather out of his shaving cup when a voice called from downstairs. "Oh, Uncle Wiggly! Where are you?"

"Hello, Baby Bunty!" laughed the rabbit gentleman. "I'm coming right down. Are you going to be at our party?"

"Well, I just guess I am," said Baby Bunty. "I'm busy up and well. You can see that. I've got to go. Uncle Wiggly could even wash the lather off his face. Baby Bunty came running up the stairs and found him."

Of course, Uncle Wiggly didn't mind. He was a good man. Baby Bunty, the little rabbit girl, leading him a lively race around through the different rooms.

"That's coming to be one with whiskers," said Baby Bunty. "You may come and help me put it on, Baby Bunty, while Uncle Wiggly answers the door."

Listen, World!

"Long about the middle of January, just as I've nicely finished all my New Year's resolutions, and have begun blissfully to bust 'em, the Knockers arrive. They sneer at my resolutions. They regard me, and all my works, with contempt."

"Well," snort they, "is paved with good intentions!"

This sprightly remark I have heard every single January since I cut my first tooth. I expect to hear it every January until I lose my last one—for I will admit that as a resolution buster I'm a regular Jack Dempsey. Nor have I heard it only in January. I have also heard it in March, April, May, June, July, August, September, October, November, December and on the twenty-ninth of February. For the Knockers are always with us.

Always, ALWAYS.

If you try to do a good deed, they're right on hand to point out your selfish motive.

If you make a big effort, they're there to announce your failure. You can never do anything to please them. If you're happy and show it, they say you're "gushingly insincere."

If you're complaining, they just snoop along finding fault with everyone else, sneering, doubting, scoffing, insinuating, calling names.

Well, perhaps I do bust my resolutions. Perhaps I do pave hell with good intentions. But I'm here to say to that gang of Knockers that I'd rather pave hell with good intentions than never do road work anywhere. So there!

from certain moral codes, I don't believe there are any set rules for American standards of living, nor do I believe there should be any.

An American is an individual termed as a citizen having the right, supposedly, to speak his own mind and provided he governs his actions by certain rules of law and order, he can carry on whatever mode of living he prefers.

Because the American is an individual and because there are no set rules of living conditions to hamper him, he stands a better chance of progress.

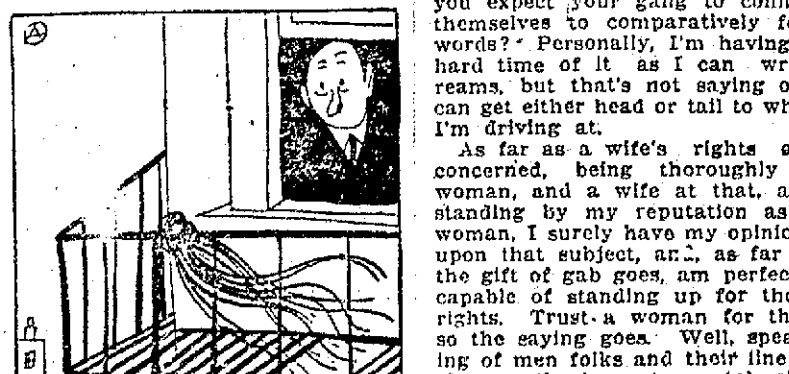

Although Americans as a nation have no set standards of living, most individuals, barring the army and navy, have set for themselves certain class distinctions which are governed largely by the almighty dollar. Not all individuals, but most. You may disagree with me, Jerry, but to continue.

The destinies of most American men and women are greatly determined by their pocketbook. Whether this condition is right or wrong, I don't know. To me it remains a fact.

Intermission, please! Too much tax upon my brain and right arm as well. Me for a breather spell. Thanks. All right, feel better. Now to continue. (Don't worry, Jerry, I'll quit pretty soon.)

Now for a wife's right and responsibility. Letters from the right in the world to demand of a man certain personal characteristics, provided it's within reason, but her rights and her responsibilities can be no other. Letters from the right in the world to demand of a man certain personal characteristics, provided it's within reason, but her rights and her responsibilities can be no other.

Bids for the construction of 3300 refrigerator cars for the Pacific Fruit Express company, for 1932 delivery, were asked by that company today, according to an announcement by the Southern Pacific company, which owns the fruit express company jointly with the Union Pacific railroad.

The cost of the cars will be in the neighborhood of $13,000,000, bringing the investment in new equipment and facilities since 1920 to $33,000,000. The Pacific Fruit Express company since 1920 has expended $16,000,000 for new equipment and $1,000,000 for new and enlargement of existing facilities, the announcement said. The company last year received 4000 new refrigerator cars.

It was stated at the local offices of the Pacific Fruit Express that the new equipment is necessary in order to handle the increasing shipments of perishable commodities and that it was decided to contract for the cars in preparation for the new fruit season despite conditions in the transportation industry which cause capital expenditures to be held to the minimum.

The new cars, it is anticipated, will be completed in time for the summer perishable business. The company at present has 19,500 refrigerator cars and with new equipment now being ordered will have 22,800 refrigerator cars.

POULTRY OWNERS TOLO EGGS FACE ANOTHER DECLINE

Quotations Today Are Up 1 1/2 Cents Nevertheless; Potatoes Are Weak.

Eggs took on another cent and a half a dozen today and were at the 32 cent level. The recovery had little effect on the storage situation and was evidently not considered a very permanent affair by the poultrymen themselves. J. H. Barber, general manager of the Poultry Producers of Central California came out with an official warning to the members of his organization that new drops in prices were in store for them. Barber says that there has been a large increase in hens in the producing districts of the middle west, the south and the southwest, which means a larger supply of eggs this spring than formerly with an assurance of lower prices. Speculation in egg futures is being engaged in by all classes of dealers. One prominent buyer at Potomac and San Francisco recently offered several carloads of eggs packed extra for which delivery at 22 cents a dozen. The letter points out that this delivery is below the market price and below this price, and naturally will bear the market all he can, in order to get an order for eggs. The quotations for storage eggs were reported below 20 cents today and San Francisco dealers had word as low as 13 cents being offered.

There were hints today that the market for eggs was not so bright as it appeared. While the quotations were not changed large dealers were saying that there was probably a change within a day or so. The supply is large, especially of northern varieties and shipments are steady with the market weak.

The wholesale dealers in citrus fruit are not all pleased with the course of the Fruit Growers Association in cutting prices. It is said to be 32 cents a box, 30 cents a box, 28 cents a box, 26 cents a box, 24 cents a box, 22 cents a box, 20 cents a box, 18 cents a box, 16 cents a box, 14 cents a box, 12 cents a box, 10 ## SHE LOOKS SO WELL AND HAPPY

See the Rich, Red Blood, the Sign of Health, Showing in Her Lovely Cheeks

Some women have naturally beautiful complexions that tell you there is plenty of richness in their blood. Their features become well formed, supple, rounded, and graceful. These are the results of rich, red blood and plenty of it. There is no need of being thin and scrawny from poor blood. At a few bottles of Gude's Pepto-Mangan take it with your meals for a few weeks. It will give you plenty of red blood. By building up the blood, you give the entire system a chance to restore itself naturally, and that brings natural bloom and beauty and all the effects and joys of good health. Get Gude's Pepto-Mangan at your druggist's in liquid or tablet form.—Advertisement.

Careless Shampooing Spoils the Hair

Hair should be used very carefully. If you want to keep your hair looking its best, most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it. The best thing for steady use is Mulisified coconut oil shampoo (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than anything else you can use.

One or two teaspoonfuls of Mulisified will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage. You can get Mulisified coconut oil shampoo at any pharmacy. It's very cheap, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months. Be sure your druggist gives you Mulisified.—Advertisement.

HEAD STUFFED BY CATARRH? USE A HEALING CREAM

If your nostrils are clogged, your throat distressed, or your head is stuffed by nasty catarrh or a cold, apply a little pure, antiseptic germ destroying cream into your nostrils. It penetrates through every air passage, soothing inflamed, swollen membranes and you get instant relief.

How good it feels. Your nostrils are open. Your head is clear. No more hawking, snuffling, dryness or struggling for breath. Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from any druggist. Colds and catarrh yield like magic. Don't stay stuffed up. Relief is sure.—Advertisement.

HAVE COLOR IN CHEEKS

Be Better Looking—Take Olive Tablets

If your skin is yellow—complexion pallid—tongue coated—appetite poor—you have a bad taste in your mouth—a lazy, no-good feeling—you should take Olive Tablets.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—a substitute for calomel—were prepared by Dr. Edwards after 17 years of study. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by the olive color.

To have a clear, pink skin, bright eyes, no pimples, a feeling of buoyancy like childhood days you must get at the cause.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets set on the liver and bowels like calomel, yet have no dangerous after effects. They start the bile and overcome constipation. Take one or two nightly and note the pleasing results. Millions of boxes are sold annually at 15c and 50c.—Advertisement.

Why Women Get Despondent

Are not women naturally as light-hearted, buoyant and hopeful as men? Yes, certainly; but a woman's gamut is essentially different from a man's—more delicate, more sensitive and more exacting. Women in delicate health are more dependent, more nervous, more irritable and more despondent. When women develop nervousness, sleeplessness, backaches, headaches, dragging-down pains and melancholia she should lose no time in giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial, as it will quickly dispel such troubles. This root and herb medicine contains no drugs and has been the standby of American womanhood for nearly fifty years.—Advertisement.

MRS. EDSON BACK FROM CONCLAVE; LAUDS RESULTS

No Question of Success Says S. F. Woman Named by Harding to Committee.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 18.—The four women named by President Harding to the advisory committee of the disarmament conference did not see on special committee's subcommittee last night as citizens with the same relation toward the work as the men, according to Mrs. Katharine Edson. Mrs. Edson has just returned from nearly three months in Washington, where she served as a member of the advisory committee. To this body was given the task of summing up the opinion of the people of the United States on the limitation of armaments, particularly on the submarine and naval holidays, chemical warfare, land armaments, the Far East situation, and general information, the California member reviews.

To the policy of Secretary Hughes in holding informal sessions and the simplicity of President Harding's attitude throughout the conference, Mrs. Edson pays tribute.

There is no question as to the success of the naval program," she asserts. "Limitation of capital ships, a naval holiday, prohibition of use of submarines against vessels of commerce, and restoration of rules of warfare prohibiting use of poison gas, have been accomplished. It is not too early to see what will be the total gain for China.

"As a Californian who holds a Californian's attitude on the Japanese question, it is only fair to say that Japan has shown a fine spirit throughout the conference.

"My firmest conviction gained in Washington is that the good-will and understanding developed at this conference between the United States, the British dominions and Japan will make for peace and settlement of many of our former misunderstandings.

News of the Churches

Bay Baptist Institute Closed

The annual institute of the Baptist Young People of the San Francisco Bay Association closed last Sunday afternoon at the Twenty-third Avenue Baptist Church, Oakland. The total enrollment was 320. The following officers were elected to serve during 1922: President, Harold K. Langdon, Oakland (re-elected); five vice-presidents, Irene Reed and E. J. Woolley of Oakland; C. D. Moore of San Pablo; and Oliver Dawson and Edith McKircher of San Francisco; recording secretary, Harriet Holmes, Oakland; corresponding secretary, Harold King, Oakland; treasurer, Lawrence Taylor, Alameda; junior superintendent, Mrs. Sallie Burgess, San Francisco; intermediate superintendent, Mrs. E. J. Woolley, Oakland.

The "Stunt Supper" on Saturday night was attended by 210 persons. The program which followed was given by fifty of the young people and depicted the origin, growth and development of the B. Y. P. U. of America.

At the Sunday afternoon session Langdon read his annual report and recommended as the slogan for the following year four E's—"Evangelism, Education, Enlistment, Extension."

Rev. Ford Kitchell's address on "The Challenge of Life," "Seeing Things," brought a fitting climax to the institute.

'Law of Abundance' to Be Theme

Students of New Thought in the bay region will gather in convention next Saturday in Hotel Oakland to welcome Mrs. Melva J. Merrill, who was until recently secretary of the I. N. T. A. at Washington, D. C. Mrs. Merrill was a prominent leader here before taking up the nationwide work.

There will be three sessions of the conference, at 11 a. m. and at 2:30 and 8 o'clock p. m. Plans are being made to have all of the leaders representing New Thought, Home of Truth Unity and Divine Science centers of Oakland, Berkeley, Alameda and San Francisco present at the meeting.

The general theme of the conference will be "The Law of Abundance." Mrs. Ida B. Elliott, field secretary of the I. N. T. A., is in charge.

M. Dodds of the Metaphysical College of Los Angeles, who is now lecturing in San Francisco, will be one of the speakers. It is announced.

Presbyterian Synod Plans Made

Plans are being made by the program committee for the annual meeting of the California Synod of the Presbyterian church which takes place July 20 to 27 in Pasadena. Dr. Warren H. Landon, moderator of the synod, and Dr. Robert Freeman, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Pasadena, which is to be host to the visiting delegates, head the program committee.

A richer choice of school sessions is being proved and leaders of international repute are being sought for the leadership of the devotional and Bible study periods, which are features of each year's synod.

One of the interesting features of the conference is to be the attention given to music. A large choir is contemplated and possibly a choir association plan, similar to that which is produced in connection with the meetings of the San Joaquin Presbytery, will be formed.

SOCIETY WILL TRY TO MAKE DRY LAW EFFECTIVE

Dr. Charles Scanlon of Pittsburgh, Pa., general secretary of the Presbyterian Board of Temperance and Moral Welfare has been elected president of the National Temperance Society, with headquarters in New York. To taking the office, Dr. Scanlon announced that the society will emphasize in its persistent campaign for enforcement of the Eighteenth Amendment. He said further that the society would extend its labors in foreign countries, operating through the missionaries of the Presbyterian and other denominations.

Plans are being made to send E. L. G. Hoenrich, a specialist in temperance work, to Europe for a special campaign. This action is said to be in response to an appeal from Czechoslovakia, asking for help in fostering prohibition sentiment in that nation.

CHURCH TO HOLD BANQUET

The annual meeting and banquet of the congregation of the First Unitarian church, Berkeley, will be held tomorrow night, beginning at 6 o'clock. Annual reports of the trustees will be given and officers elected for the coming year.

METHODISTS ARE HOSTS

CONNOLLY CASE IS POSTPONED TO NEXT TUESDAY

Civil Service Board Cannot Act Until Seven Days After Appeal.

Because of a rule which forbids the hearing of an appeal case earlier than seven days after filing, the civil service board last night postponed until Tuesday night the case of Policeman Michael Connolly, recently dismissed from the force.

Connolly had two appeals already in, one against a three-day suspension and one against his indefinite suspension. These could have been heard last night, but Connolly was since dismissed, and it was decided to hold all three cases in one. Attorney M. W. Sevier, representing Connolly, says he will have eight or ten witnesses on hand to testify for the dismissed policeman.

The civil service board verified the temporary appointment of V. H. Carter as a supervising engineer for the park department. Carter's work will be at Lake Merritt during the dredging.

The board also looked into the case of R. C. McDowell, ex-patrolman, who surrendered himself to the police yesterday, saying he was an army deserter. He said he deserted from the army in 1915, but he joined the police department. The civil service board looked into the records to see how he got around the rule which requires residence in Oakland for five years. They found that if the board's decision is in favor of the policeman, he will be reinstated.

"Is a former service man entitled to an exemption from taxes on property?"

The soldier exemption is as follows: $1000 personal property and $5000 real property. The same exemption holds for a soldier's widow.

"For what purpose was the money used which the service men paid in as government insurance while in the service?"

This money has been used to pay claims of widows of service men killed in action, or of men who have died since, and for a permanent fund. About 50 per cent of the for-1915 desertion statement is true, he justified the application. He resigned last August, so the matter is not under the jurisdiction of the board!

Thus ends the tale.

ASK THE TRIBUNE Bureau of Information

A Nevada reader of The TRIBUNE sends in the following query: "How much would it cost to ship by freight a small steam boiler and tube plate vulcanizing machinery which would be crated and shipped by way of the Union Pacific from Oakland to North Platte, Nebraska, weight 150 pounds, crated?"

The cost will be $6.05 for the 150-pound shipment if taken apart, and $7 if shipped set up.

If "EAST WAY" whose query is at hand, will send his or her name and address accompanied by a stamp, the information requested will be sent in a personal letter.

"Where and how can a man make his application for state aid for the purchase of a home?" queries another reader.

American Legion, 306 Twelfth street, Oakland.

Iowan Is Speaker At Mills College

Dr. J. D. Stoops, professor of philosophy at Grinnell college, Iowa, was the speaker at the Mills College Vesper service Sunday evening, his subject being "The Individual and the Group." Dr. Stoops, who has just returned from three months of travel in China and Japan, pointed out the fact that China is made up of individuals—four hundred million individuals—who in spite of their beliefs yet hold to no other nation today.

In passing Dr. Stoops spoke of the clearing in his mind of Old Testament literature in the light of country which has held to its conservatism as has China. The speaker contrasted Eastern and Western civilization, saying that Americans are always seeking freedom of one phase or another, while China has been trained to look for the group mind.

Policeman Endures Wrong Name Years

Vernon Jackson Coley, inspector in the police department, claims the palm as the most mis-named policeman on the force.

Not that his brother-officers call him Coley, but because he has been called Coley for years. He stands six feet in his stockinged feet, and is quick in defense.

Several years ago Coley decided to change his last with the Oakland constabulary. He was introduced and someone thought his first name was Virgil.

Since then Coley has been called upon to correct at least fifty times each day friendly calls of "Hi, Virgil."

"With all due respects to the original of that name," said Coley yesterday, "I must insist that I do not cherish him his honor. Vernon it is and Virgil it is not."

1000 Eggs in Every Hen

New System of Poultry Keeping—Get Dollar a Dozen Eggs—Famous Poultryman TELLS HOW

"The great trouble with the poultry business has always been that the laying life of a hen was too short," says Henry Trafford, International Poultry Expert and Breeder, for nearly eighteen years Editor of Poultry Success.

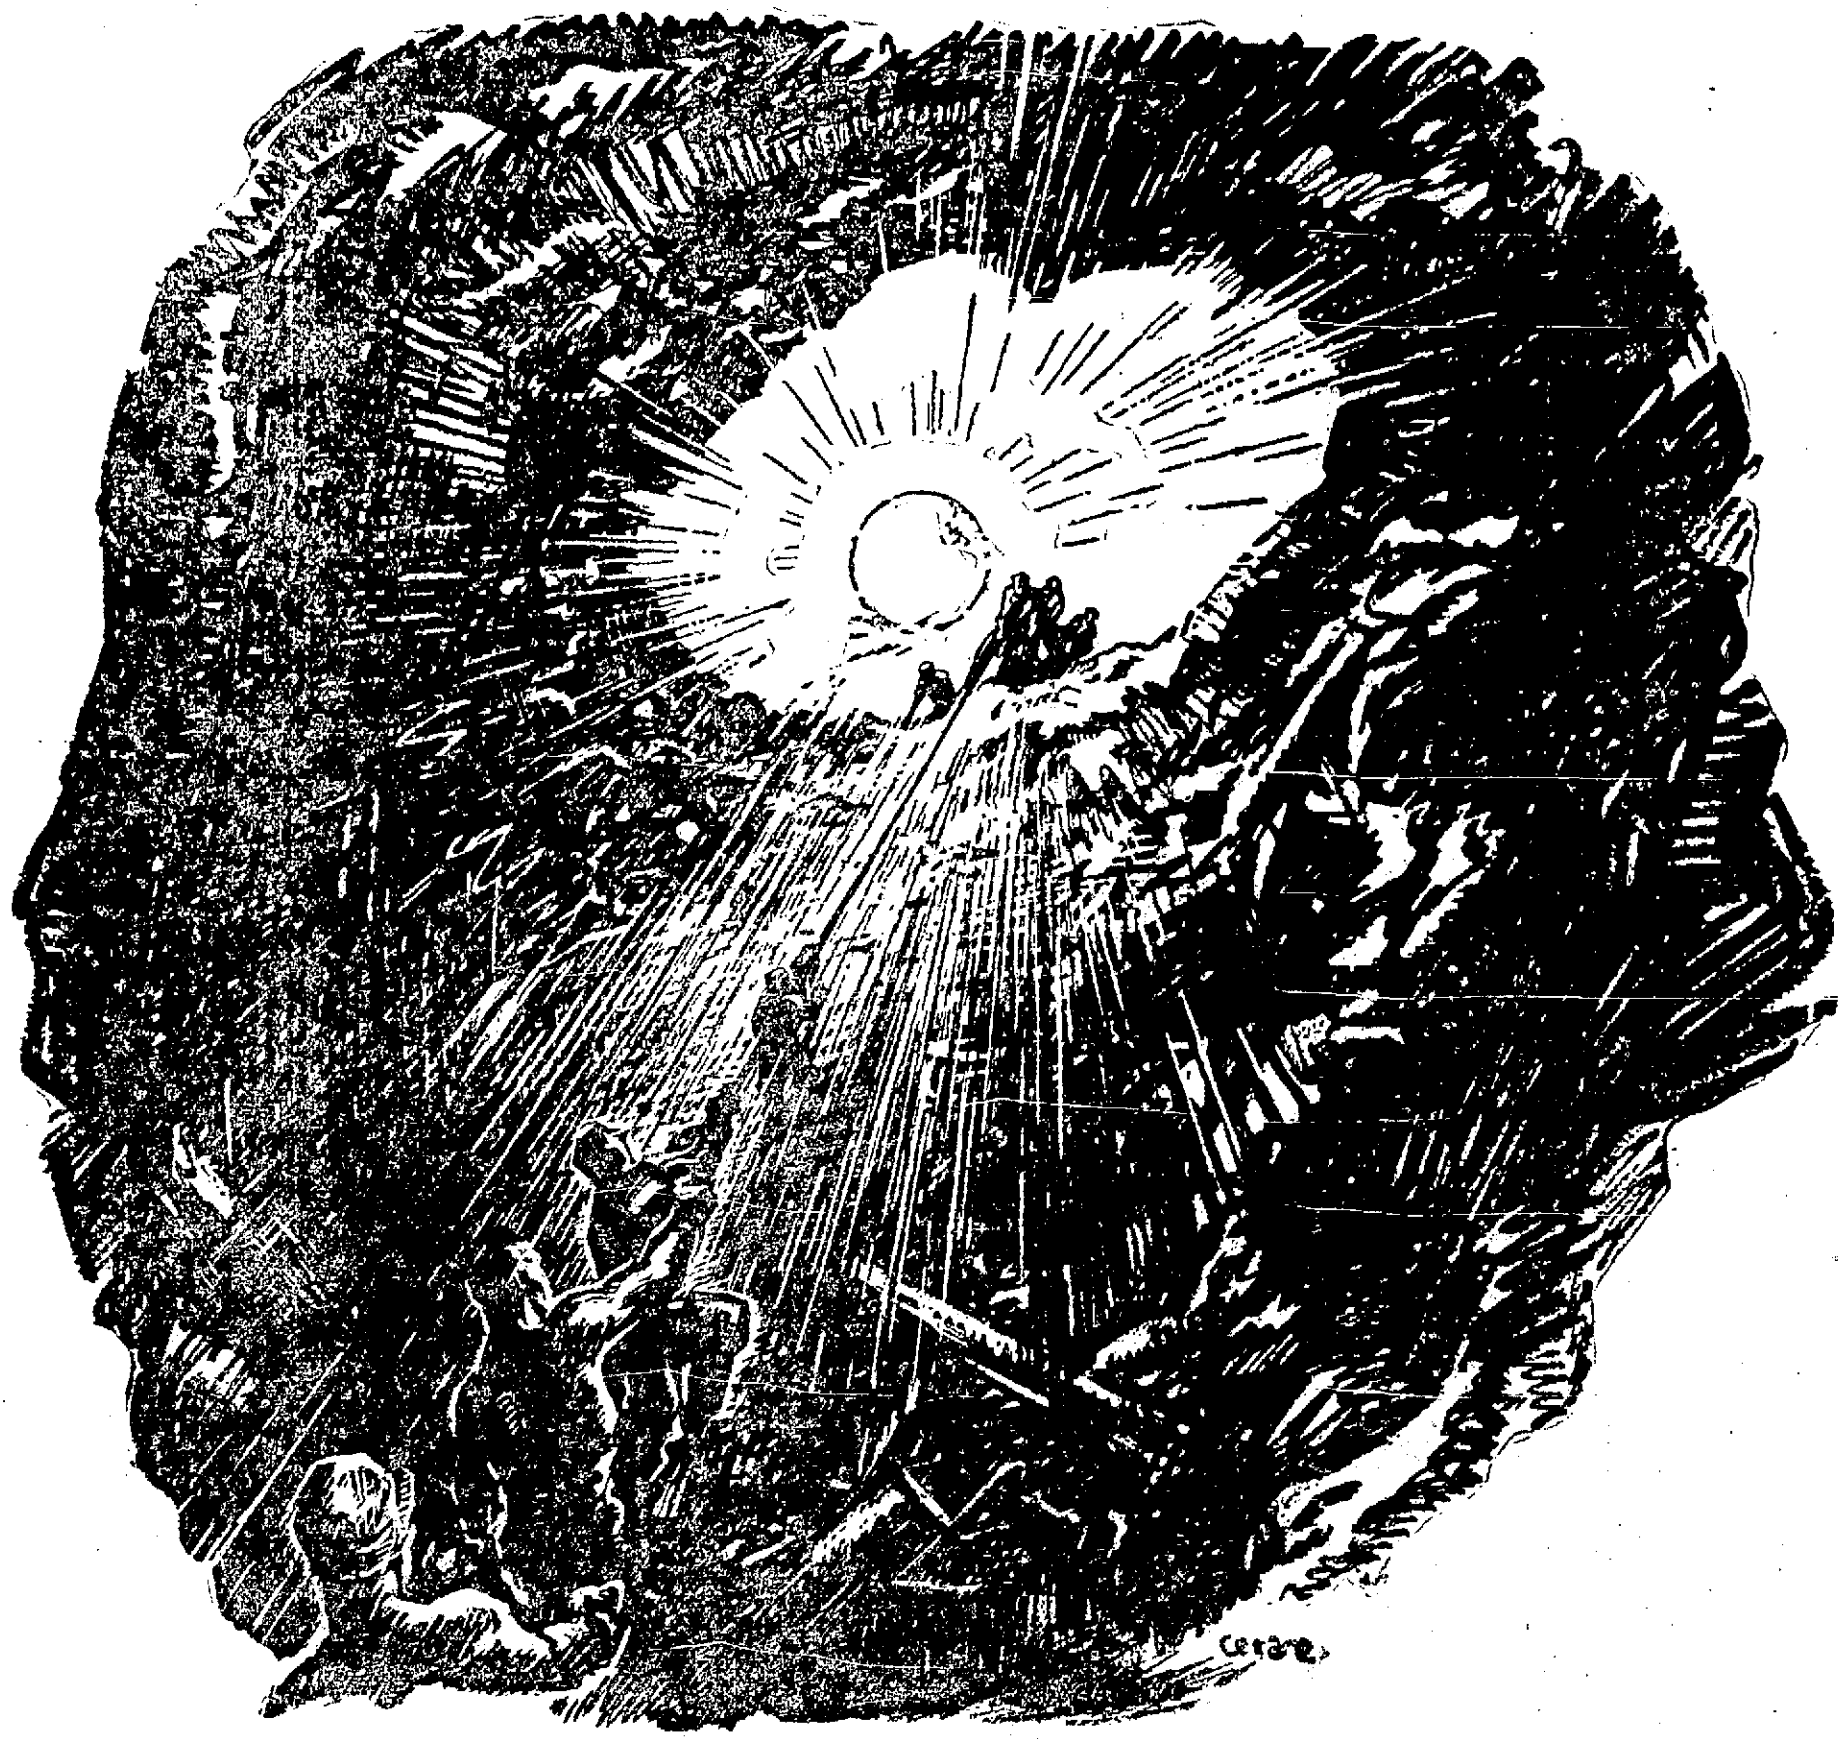

The average pullet lays 150 eggs. If kept the second year, she may lay 100 more. Then she goes to market. Yet it has been scientifically established that every pullet is born or hatched with over one thousand minute egg germs in her system—and will lay them on a highly profitable basis over a period of four to six years' time if given proper care.

How to work to get 1,000 eggs from every hen; how to get pullets laying early; how to make the old hens lay like pullets; how to keep up heavy egg production all through cold winter months when eggs are highest; triple egg production; make slacker hens hustle; $5.00 profit from every hen in six winter months. These and many other money-making poultry secrets are contained in Mr. Trafford's "1,000 EGG HEN" system of poultry raising, one copy of which will be sent absolutely free to any reader on this paper who keeps six hens or more. Eggs should go to a dollar or more a dozen this winter. This means big profit to the poultry keeper who gets the eggs. Mr. Trafford tells how, if you keep chickens and want them to make money for you, cut out this ad and send it with your name and address to Henry Trafford, Suite 901F Court Bldg., Birmingham, N. Y., and a free copy of "THE 1,000 EGG HEN" will be sent by return mail.—Advertisement.

MY FAVORITE STORIES

by IRVIN S. COBB

One Detail Was Missing.

On the historic afternoon when Jack Johnson fought Jim Jeffries in Nevada for the world's championship there was a baseball game at the old Polo Grounds. In the press stand, among others, sat Sid Mercer, the sporting writer, and Franklin P. Adams, the column conductor. For some reason or other, ringside bulletins were not being received at the ball park. Naturally, the crowd wanted to know how the fight was going.

Several hundred spectators, drawn by the fact that telegraph instruments were clicking in the press stand, packed themselves solidly behind the wire netting in the hope of hearing tidings from Reno over the wire. Mercer and Adams got a joint inspiration. They pretended to be taking a ringside description off one of the instruments. First, one would chant off a purely imaginary account of a round, and then the other world.

Now it so happened that Adams had a bet down on the negro to win, and accordingly favored the black contender. In his turn to "read" a round, he would depict Johnson as hammering Jeffries into a pulp. But Mercer, who was a partisan of Jeffries, would each time retaliate with a spirited but, of course, purely fictitious account of how the white man, having rallied heroically, was now dealing mighty blows upon the head and body of the tottering, weakening black.

Naturally, the listening crowd was torn by conflicting emotions. Cheers and groans marked the utterances of the two gifted romancers. Eventually, when the multitude had grown so in numbers that the pressure of its bulk threatened to break down the netting, the conspirators decided it was time to bring their joke to a climax.

Mercer, cocking his head above an instrument as though the better to hear, began reciting, somewhat after this fashion:

"Round-seven! At-the-sound-of-the-bell-the-two-men-leap-to-the-center-of-the-ring! They-exchange-a-whirlwind-of-jabs-and-upper-cuts! The fighting-is-the-fiercest-ever-seen-in-a-heavyweight-contest! Suddenly-the-knockout-blow-is-delivered-full-upon-the-point-of-the-jaw! The-defeated-mandrops-like-a-log! His-seconds-drag-his-unconscious-form-into-his-corner! The-maddened-throng-acclaims-the-winner-and-pandemonium-reigns-supreme!"

Here he paused and with the air of one who has completed a hard job, made as though to sit down.

From a thousand throats behind him one question arose in a mighty chorus: "Who wins?"

Dramatically Mercer raised his hand for silence, and a deep hush befell. "The despatches did not state," he said, simply, and sat down again.

McEvoy's COMIC STRIP

Merely McEvoy.

Is there a more touching sight in the world than the faithful suitor being piteously persecuted by his fair one? What is needed is a society for the prevention of cruelty to suitors. If all the world loves a lover, now is the chance to prove it. Make the lot of the lover easier lots. (Ah! A song).

Observe him in the summer time taking long drives in the country for her pleasure—his eyes blinded by dust, his neck blistered by the heat. See him on yon jolly picnic carrying enormous baskets of food, wandering unmentionable miles for water and gasoline and things. And see him coming home in the quivering dusk, stopping each few hundred yards to change a tire, or see him in countless thousands in the park bravely rowing her around while she sits and eyes him with cruel amusement through half-closed lids.

Observe him at the theatre carrying arm-loads of wraps, shagging programs, water, candy, picking up her gloves and her program or anything else she may drop to prevent him from seeing her show. Look at him standing out in the middle of the street trying to get a taxicab for her; observe him gallantly digging for taxi fare, after-the-theatre supper, and all the countless thousands of other et ceteras.

Observe him staggering around in weariness and despondency, and in contrast see how gay she is, how bright, how care-free! What a shame for one with the inexhaustible vitality the modern girl has to abuse a poor man like this. You would suppose she would treat him tenderly and be kind to him. But no! No! No one is kind to a suitor. Men laugh at him raucously. Women gaily him mercilessly. "All the world loves a lover." Rats!
